Negotiators Move Closer To Armistice In Korea

Harold L. Ickes, 77, Blunt New Dealer, Dies In Washington

ICKES

By WARREN ROGERS JR.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Death came quietly at dusk yesterday to Harold L. Ickes, 77, the New Dealer whose sharp wit and blunt speech stormed for two decades across the national scene.

Ickes, self-styled "Old Curmudgeon", died at 6:25 p. m. (EST) in a coma at a hospital here. He succumbed after an 11 weeks illness following complication of an old arthritic condition.

Resigns In Huff

Virtually an unknown in 1932 when President Franklin R. Roosevelt appointed him Secretary of the Interior, Ickes had become one of the most turbulent figures in politics by 1946, when he resigned in a huff to President Truman.

"A unique figure in American public life is lost to the nation," President Truman commented last night, adding:

"He was withal a true patriot and a many-sided citizen whose passing leaves a void in our national life not easily filled."

Head of PWA

Funeral services are scheduled for 2:30 (EST) Wednesday at All Soul's (Unitarian) church in Washington, with the Rev. Palfrey Perkins of King's Chapel, Boston, Mass., presiding. Burial will be at Sandy Spring Md

During the turbulent depression years of the 1930's Ickes was head man of the Public Works Administration, overseeing — sometimes down to the last penny—more than seven billion dollars worth of public building.

His bitter feud with the late Harry Hopkins, President Roosevelt's close friend and head of the Works Progress Administration, made New Deal history.

Column Syndicated

When Ickes resigned from President Truman's cabinet he said he could no longer stay and "retain my self respect." Crux of the dispute was the president's nomination of Edwin W. Pauley, an oil man, to be under-Secretary of the Navy. Vigorously opposed by Ickes, the nomination was later dropped at Pauley's request.

After his resignation, Ickes authored a syndicated column and a magazine series. His name ontinued to be linked with pub- ic issues, although in recent ears he grew comparatively uiet.

He spent most of his time at is Olney, Md., farm and in Maine with his family, but remained an intermittent White ouse visitor.

Ickes was born March 15, 1874, ear Hollidaysburg in Blair county, Pa. He was graduated from he University of Chicago with a achelor's degree and entered ewspaper work. Late, he took a aw course and began practice in 907.

The interior secretaryship was is first public office.

Other survivors are two sons nd a daughter. The first Mrs. kes, the former Anna Wilmarth hompson, died in 1935 Ickes emarried three years later.

A son of the first marriage, aymond W. Ickes, is a lawyer San Francisco. Children of the econd marriage are Harold Mcwen Ickes, 12, and Elizabeth, 10.

State Offices Still Disrupted By 1951 Arson

By ROBERT E. VOGES

LANSING— (AP) —A year ago this week a confused young father touched a match to a pile of maps and started the $4,500,000 state office building fire. State government hasn't recovered from the shock yet.

The Young Father is in state's prison, divorced from his young wife and baby.

Building Empty

The semi-wrecked office building, its two top floors gone, still stands empty and stained. It probably won't be in use for another year.

A dozen state agencies still are scattered throughout Lansing and East Lansing in make-shift quarters. All government is snarled by inconvenient distances, crammed offices, lost files, and an old-fashioned manual telephone system.

All this started last Feb. 8 on a chilly but quiet afternoon.

Kefauver Predicts He'll Win Out As Democrat Nominee

(By The Associated Press)

Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn) confidently predicted Sunday he could win the Democratic presidential nomination even if President Truman seeks re-election.

But he said he does not think Truman "wants the job" again.

Kefauver said on a radio program he is not running for second place, and if Truman runs again and offers his backing to Kefauver for the vice presidential nomination, he would not "be interested at all."

Afraid of Beating

The President, who has not revealed his 1952 plans, figured in two other developments:

Senator Aiken (R-Vt) said he thinks the President withdrew from the Democratic presidential primary in New Hampshire "because Senator Kefauver would have beaten the tar out of him."

The President told his news conference Thursday his name, entered without his consent, would be withdrawn from the March 11 New Hampshire primary. He said such primaries are eyewash, and he could have the nomination if he decides he wants it, without entering them.

Senator Maybank (D-SC) declined to tell newsmen on a television show whether he would support Truman if the President is the Democratic nominee for reelection. He recently said he was opposed to Truman, and would support Senator Russell (D-Ga).

Ike Backers Busy

Maybank told interviewers on the NBC "Meet The Press" program that his support would depend on the vice presidential nominee and the party platform in the event Truman ran again.

In Washington, political sources said Republicans backing Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for president soon will make known his recorded views on taxes, labor, farm and many other domestic issues.

They are combing through his speeches, letters and memoranda as background for the campaign document. Eisenhower himself has been silent on the issues, and although announcing he would accept the nomination if it is offered him, he said he will not take any part in campaigning.

Michigan GOP Stays Neutral

LANSING— (AP) —The Republican party organization in Michigan is maintaining complete neutrality towards candidates for the GOP presidential nomination.

Party leaders in statements yesterday said, however, the organization is glad to know about their activities and to confer with campaign managers.

Owen J. Cleary of Ypsilanti, state central committee chairman, said, "we are neither approving nor disapproving campaign plans of any presidential candidate. The state central committee is glad to know about their activities but we are planning no role in plans formed by any candidates. We will cooperate in giving all candidates an opportunity to speak at Republican meetings in Michigan."

Arthur A. Summerfield of Flint, national committeeman, said, "we are glad to advise with the campaign managers about financing and other questions. Months ago, we decided that all presidential candidates would be brought to Michigan so the people could hear them, see them and make their choice. Some have been in Michigan and others have been invited. I believe every candidate will be in Michigan several times before the national convention next July."

Daughter Of Victim In Hall-Mills Murder Mystery Case Dead

METUCHEN, N. J.— (AP) —Miss Charlotte Mills, whose mother was one of the victims in the mystery-shrouded Hall-Mills murder case of 30 years ago, died Friday in a nursing home. She was 45.

Until she became sick recently, Miss Mills had been living in New York City. She had been employed by the Central Savings Bank there.

Miss Mills was the daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Reinhardt Mills, a beautiful choir singer whose body was found in a lovers' lane with that of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall, pastor of a fashionable New Brunswick church. The case still is unsolved.

The preacher's widow and her two brothers were tried and acquitted of the double murder.

Fire Routs 40 In Omaha; 5 Die

OMAHA — (AP) — Five persons died and 12 were injured, one seriously, in a flash fire that routed 40 persons from the Liberty apartments near downtown Omaha last night.

The dead, four men and one woman, were found in their rooms by firemen. One body was tentatively identified from papers as that of J. Lesnovich, a railroad pensioner. Identification of the other bodies was not immediately possible because of their burned condition.

The cause of the fire was not determined, but arson squad Capt. Dan Mulcahey said it apparently started on the top floor of the two and one half-story brick and frame structure and spread rapidly.

Most of the occupants of the 38-unit building already had retired when the fire broke out. Firemen took some out of windows on ladders. Others, scantily clothed, jumped. Some made their way to the outside by fire escapes.

Civil War Pistols Stolen In Lansing

LANSING—(AP)—Thieves broke into the State Historical Commission Museum here over the weekend and made off with two Civil War pistols.

State police, under whose jurisdiction state buildings fall, said the robbers broke a small pane of glass near a door and reached through to open the door.

The antique pistols were valued at between $25 and $50 each.

Big Sex Orgies Influence Votes In Abbeville, La.

By ROY STEINFORT

ABBEVILLE, La. — (AP) — Published reports of a drunken two-day sex orgy in a Louisiana "bullpen" to influnece prospective voters in a state primary comes under official investigation today.

For years in this southwest Louisiana Cajun country, "bullpen" parties have been held in some communities shortly before election.

Everything Free

Prospective voters are herded together and showered with free liquor and free women 24 to 48 hours before the election polls open and then they are made to vote for the "right candidate."

On orders from District Judge Wilmot Daleferes, five men will appear in court today to tell what they know about the orgy that reportedly took place in adjoining Vermilion parish two days before the Jan. 15 state Democratic primary.

The LaFayette Advertiser quoted Stanley Pearson, co-chairman of the citizens for better government committee, as saying a bullpen guard gave him this account of the affair:

"We started out at a camp north of Abbeville near Milton the Sunday before the election where about a dozen people were being kept.

Taken To Polls

". . . The next day we got orders to move south of Abbeville and so on. Before the last move Monday night (the election was on a Tuesday) the population had increased to nearly 200. They were taken in by twos, by fives, by the carloads.

"Man and wife, street bums, drunkards, and prostitutes were being entertained with whisky, wine souce piquantes, gumbo, tubs of beer, cigarettes, string bands and dancing in cramped quarters.

"The party ended about 6 a. m. election day when the groups were taken away, supposedly to the polls."

German Gunman Kidnaps Girl, 18

BY DAN DE LUCE

FRANKFURT, Germany—(AP)—Pretty Mamie Ruth Shelton, the first American girl kidnapped in postwar Germany, was threatened with death by a gunman in U. S. uniform before he abandoned her in a stolen car on a lonely country road, she told investigators today.

The red-haired, blue-eyed step-daughter of an army sergeant said her abductor fled with her for an hour through the snowy countryside last night after forcing out her two soldier escorts at pistol point

Brandishing a .45 automatic, he warned her, "don't move out of thi car or you'll die." Then he vanished on foot.

Paralyzed with fright, the 18-year-old ivctim huddled on the front seat of the stolen Pontiac sedan until morning, she said.

When it was light, she walked shiveringly to a main road and asked for help. Two military police corporals rescued her at Niederdorffelden, about 20 miles from the Frankfurt suburb of Fechenheim, where she was seized at 7:30 p. m. yesterday.

Government Scandal Cleanup Man Has Red Leanings, Says Potter

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Michigan's Representative Charles Potter considers Attorney Newbold Morris a poor choice to head the government's anti-corruption investigation.

"Morris has a record of being used by Communist front organizations that demonstrates he is either naive to the extreme or a soft-headed idealist whose judgment is most poor," the Cheboygan Republican said of the New York Republican yesterday.

Connections Listed

"It's too assinine for reply," was Morris' prompt retort to Potter's charge.

The Michigan Congressman said Morris has been listed as one-time sponsor of the American Committee on Yugoslav Relief, the Greater New York Emergency Conference on Inalienable Rights, and the New York Tom Mooney Committee, had connections with the Lawyers' Committee To Free Spain Now and had addressed meetings of the American Youth Congress.

All six organibations have been listed as Communist-connected by either the Attorney General or the un-American Activities Committee or both, Potter said, and asked:

"If Morris cannot distinguish a Communist-sponsored organization how can he be expected to identify corruption even if it were starring him in the face?"

He hinted that Morris' selection by President Truman and Attorney-General McGrath might have been made "because Mr. Morris, while claiming to be a Republican, could be used by McGrath to hide from the public the graft and corruption which the president infers he is determined to expose and eliminate."

By JACK ADAMS

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Newbold Morris returns to Washington today to set up the investigative X-ray machinery he hopes will detect any corruption in government.

Quinnesec Man Killed By Train

(By The Associated Press)

Two highway smashups fatal to seven persons ran Michigan's weekend violent death toll to 24, the largest in recent months.

Five died in a collision of two cars near Muskegon Sunday. The only survivor was critically injured.

Early today a car rammed into a tree in the fog in the Port Huron area, killing two occupants and injuring two others.

The full toll was the highest for any of the six weekends of the new year, including the long New Year's Day holiday period.

All but two of the victims died in traffic. A youth died under an overturned tractor near Jackson and a Detroit infant suffocated in a fire in his parents' apartment.

Henry Gribben, 63, of Quinnesec, was killed Saturday night when a car and a Chicago and Northwestern railroad switch engine collided in that town near Iron Mountain. The driver of the car, old-time Michigan State football star Parnell G. McKenna, was taken to Iron Mountain Memorial Hospital in critical condition. McKenna captained the Spartan team in 1909.

Argument Over Dog Fatal To Father Of 3

BREWTON, Ala. — (AP) — A father of three children was shot to death "during an argument over a hunting dog" in front of his East Brewton home yesterday.

Ulay O. Myers, 30, was shot once in the chest with a .38 caliber revolver, Escambia County Sheriff Luther Mills said. He said Myers was "killed during an argument over a hunting dog killed a long time ago."

Leo Coxwell, 45, of East Brekton, was placed in Escambia county jail after being arrested in connection with the shooting.

Congress Dawdles; No Major Business Booked For Weeks

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Congress starts the second month of its 1952 session today with the "no major business" sign still up and likely to stay up for several more weeks.

Out of deference to members who want to make Lincoln day speeches, there will be little legislative activity this week in either chamber.

Senate business includes debate on admission of Alaska to the Union, and another vote on inviting Greece and Turkey to join the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Senate already has approved the invitation to Greece and Turkey to join NATO but wants to do it over and make the invitation more emphatic. Only six members were on hand for the first vote.

The past week saw little progress on the legislative front.

The House approved President Truman's plan to reorganize the Internal Revenue Bureau by taking tax collectors off the patronage rolls and putting them under civil service. The Senate doesn't have to approve the proposal, but can halt it by a resolution of disapproval. If it takes no action at all, the plan goes into effect on March 15.

Tiger Woman Winnie Escapes Fifth Time And Baffles Police

PHOENIZ, Ariz. — (AP) — The search for Winnie Ruth Judd, red-haired trunk murderess of 21 years ago, spread throughout Arizona today with police admitting they were baffled by her disappearance.

Officers from border to border have been alerted to watch all points of entry into the state and particularly roads leading into Mexico where some think she may be headed.

"We have no clues,' Sheriff L. C. Boies of Maricopa county stated, "and none of the usual tips received have panned out."

Winnie Ruth, 48, dubbed the "Tiger Woman" after she killed two women and dismembered their bodies in 1931, has eluded capture since escaping from the state hospital for insane Saturday night.

She opened a third story tower window in her ward, slid down a 48 foot rope improvised from restraining straps and disappeared in the night. Police are sgtill checking reports she fled in a dark colored sedan waiting outside the nine-foot barbed wire hospital fence.

It was her fifth escape from the institution.

Winnie Ruth, an attractive nurse before the twin killing, was convicted of shooting Agnes Ann Le Roi and Hedvig Samuelson Oct. 16, 1931. Their dismembered bodies were shipped to Los Angeles in a trunk and suitcase. A peculiar odor in the baggage room of the railway station led to their discovery.

Mrs. Judd was caught and sentenced to hang. She was declared insane in 1933 only 72 hours before the time of execution.

Blizzard Stalls Autos In Utah

(By The Associated Press)

Three storms which brought the country a wide variety of weather over the week end converged today, boding high winds and rain for New England.

One had whipped up a blizzard in the central Rockies Saturday that took three lives, and blanketed the center of the continent with rain, light snow and freezing drizzle as it moved east.

A second sucked dust thousands of feet into the air over much of Texas before settling it with rain, and moved on over Arkansas into Tennessee.

A third, with winds ranging up to 75 mils an hour, lashed the Atlantic coast and drove a 2,600-ton freighter aground off Cape Hatteras, N. C., as it took a north-eastward course paralleling the seaboard.

The result was rain over the middle Mississippi and Ohio valleys, southern and eastern Great Lakes region, and most of the middle and north Atlantic states.

The blizzard near Colton, Utah, Saturday stalled more than a dozen automobiles and when highway crews reached them Sunday, three occupants of one buried car were dead of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Family Of Five Dies In Apartment Blaze

BINGHAMTON, N. Y.—(AP)—A young family of five died today in their flaming third-floor apartment after an oil stove exploded.

The dead were:

George Resseguie, 23, his wife, Lola, 22, and their three children, Georgette and Georgia Anne, 3-year-old twins, and George, 18, months.

Patrolman Harry Jung and Richard Koffman, braved smoke and flames to run through the three-story frame building and rouse other occupants.

The victims were found in the charred bedroom of the family's three-room apartment.

Panama Government Frees Student Rioters

PANAMA, Panama — (AP) — Panama's government has released 25 student rioters and agreed to extend their interrupted school term to Feb. 29, apparently settling the country's turbulent school controversy.

Eighteen persons were injured Wednesday when the students and police clashed during a demonstration demanding the term extension to make up for time lost during a student and teacher political strike since November. The government had previously refused the extension.

Eye Witness To Bare Russian Mass Murder Of 4,143 Poles.

By RUSSELL BRINES

WASHINGTON — (AP)—A man who says he saw Russians murdering Polish army officers in Katyn forest during World War II will testify before a Congressional committee trying to find out whether Nazis or Russians committed the massacre.

Rep. Madden (D-Ind), chairman of a special House investigating committee, announnced during the weekend that "This is the only eye witness—outside the men who did the murdering—who has ever been produced."

So far unidentified, the mystery witness will appear Wednesday, Madden said.

The committee, however, will begin its investigation today into the mass murder of 4,143 Polish army leaders in Katyn forest near Smolensk in 1943. That many corpses were found in crude mass graves. Another 11,000 Polish prisoners are still missing.

First witness to appear before the special committee will be Col. John H. Van Vliet, an American Army officer who was flown from a German prison camp by the Nazis to see the stacked bodies of the dead Poles

Madden said the hearing will have more ramifications than just trying to investigate the Katyn affair.

"Stalin and the Reds have been talking about Americans killing Communist prisoners in Korea," he said. "This hearing will present evidence of the greatest mass genocide in history, and will reveal the criminal mind behind the Communist leaders."

In addition to Van Vliet and the mystery witness, the committee has announced it also has two Poles who escaped from some of the camps where the murdered officers previously were confined.

They moy appear masked, in order to protect their identities so relatives still behind the iron curtain won't be punished, Madden said.

Reds Indicate They Have Hope For Truce Pact

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

MUNSAN, Korea—(AP)—A United Nations command spokesman said tonight the Allies and Communists "have moved closer to an armistice" in Korea.

He added that the Reds also may "have hopes of an armistice."

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, the spokesman, said agreements reached by staff officers working on truce supervision and the subcommittee on prisoner exchange mean "we have moved closer to an armistice."

Last Item Scheduled

He said Communist acceptance of a U. N. proposal to start immediate negotiations on the final section of an armistice indicates "they have hopes of an armistice."

Truce negotiators scheduled a full dress session Wednesday to start work on the fifth and last agenda item.

"I think we can get together and write the rest of the agreement" on prisoner exchange, said Rear Adm. R. E. Libby. "For the first time, I think we are in a position to settle the nuts and bolts of the situation."

Staff officers drafting truce supervision plans made no measurable headway. They still must iron out differences over troop rotation, neutral inspection and definitions of coastal waters. U. N. spokesmen have described the differences as minor. The staff officers are not debating the key truce supervision issue—whether the Reds have the right to build and repair North Korean military airfields.

Pet Project Pushed

The full, five-man armistice delegations will meet in Panmunjom at 10 a. m. Wednesday (8 p. m. EST Tuesday) to open negotiations on agenda item five — recommendations to governments.

It will be the first plenary session since Dec. 4. Subcommittees and staff officers have been in session daily, however.

Caspian Mine Workers Idled

CASPIAN, Mich. — (AP) — Iron ore production at nearby Buck mine was halted today after a four - ton electric locomotive plunged 1,200 feet to the bottom of a shaft.

No miners were hurt in the mishap. But the plunging locomotive wrecked a shaft channel carrying pipes and cables from the fourth level to the bottom of the shaft.

The motor, about 12 feet long, had been hauled to the surface for repairs. It was used for underground haulage. Suspended from the bottom of a man-carrier cage in the Buck mine's Fogarty shaft, the machine slipped and fell vertically for 40 feet

Then it careened into the shaft channel for the rest of the plunge.

Harold J. Richards, general superintendent of Pickands, Mather & Co. operations on the Menominee range, said production at the mine would be supended until the new Berkshire shaft a mile away is placed in operation "within several weeks."

A total of 132 miners were idled by the accident.

Mothers' March Nets $321 For Polio Fund

The two-hour canvass of Escanaba residences Saturday night in the Mothers' March campaign netted $321 for the March of Dimes in Delta county, it was reported today by Mrs. John Luecke, Mothers' March chairman.

Mrs. Luecke reported that residents in all parts of the city responded generously to the appeal for contributions.

Solicitors, operating 15 cars, stopped at all homes where porch lights were turned on or lights were placed in windows. Contributions ranged from 10 cents to $10.

The success of the two-hour effort indicates he desirability of making the Mothers' March an annual event in connection with the March of Dimes drive, the polio fund committee reported.

Job Insurance Reserve Is High

ANN ARBOR—The $355,000,000 reserve, accumulated since 1937 under Michigan's unemployment insurance law, is adequate for dealing with any problems likely to arise in the next few years.

That's what the Michigan Unemployment Security Commission was told in Detroit Friday by William Haber, University of Michigan professor of economics.

Professor Haber submitted results of a study on long-range unemployment insurance benefit fianacing and fund solvency in Michigan.

To be published by the commission in March, the report is called "How Much Does It cost." A digest, containing findings and conclusions, was made available Friday. Stating the reserve was neither too high nor too low, the report said the aim of unemployment insurance financial policy over the next decade should be to finance benefits exclusively from tax collections. The reserve should be relied upon to assure continuity of payments in years when benefit costs exceed contributions, it said.

The unemployment insurance reserve in Dec., 1951, represented over seven per cent of the taxable payrolls in Michigan in that year, the report shows. It says the reserve is large enough to finance benefits for more than five years at the average annual outlays experienced between 1946 and 1950.

Not For Current Use

It cautions, however, that it would be unwise to rely upon this reserve for financing current benefits costs, explaining that the reserve should be used to meet benefit costs in those years when costs exceed employer contributions.

This was true in 1939, 1945 and 1946, when the reserve declined substantially, the report continues, since payments to eligible unemployed workers in those years exceeded the income of the fund.

The conclusion against relying on the reserve to finance current benefits, except in years of severe unemployment, is based on the special characteristics of the Michigan economy, it says.

It points out that Michigan's economy is least diversified of any of the nation's state economies and that manufacturing employment is heavily concentrated in four industries.

Michigan's industry is exceedingly sensitive to business fluctuations, it states further.

The report also said that:

Seasonal fluctuations, long a major source of lost time in the manufacturing industry, have been greatly reduced since 1950, due largely to the backlog of demand for durable goods. A return to a more marked seasonal pattern will substantially increase the costs of unemployment insurance.

The reserve was enlarged in the five years of 1946-50 because employer taxes for unemployment insurance in the state averaged one and six-tenths per cent of taxable wages. This was in contrast to the actual costs of the insurance of that time, as measured in benefits paid to eligible workers, which were only one and four-tenths per cent of taxable wages.

Should unemployment for the decade 1950-1960 be at the 1950 level—about five per cent of the labor force—unemployment insurance, on the present legislative provisions as to duration and maximum benefits, would cost an estimated average of one per cent of payrolls.

Should unemployment for the same period be about ten per cent, the insurance would cost about 2.16 per cent of taxable wages.

School Board Urges Bond Issue Support

Individually the members of the Escanaba Board of Education today called upon the citizens of Escanaba to support a school building program by voting "Yes" on a $1,100,000 bond issue proposal to be submitted to the people on Feb. 18.

Construction of one new grade school and a senior high school is to be undertaken in the first phase of a long-range school building replacement program, as recommended by the Citizens Advisory Council.

The question of financing the first phase of the program will be submitted after a two-year study of the problem by the Board. Supplementing the proposed $1,100,000 bond issue will be $650,000 in gifts to the school district from the late Mrs. Catherine Bonifas.

The proposed bond issue has been endorsed by the seven members of the Escanaba Board of Education. Their statements are as follows:

"Our teachers are doing a fine job of educating the children of Escanaba, and our buildings have been well maintained by our custodial staff. If we are to attract and keep good teachers, we must provide a good salary and good teaching facilities. We should begin replacing our old buildings now. A new elementary school and a new Senior high school have been given priority in our construction program. We ask you to vote YES on February 18."

Mrs. N. L. Lindquist

"Thirty-one cents per week, or less than five cents per day, is indeed a small amount for you, the average home-owner, to invest in your children's future. We fully realize that taxes are high today, along with everything else. But how can you spend a nickel a day on a better investment than for the education of your children? We ask for your support on the school bond issue at the election on February 18.

"For a better tomorrow for Escanaba's children, we ask that you vote YES on the school bond issue on February 18."

Claude J. Tobin, Jr.

"Our Senior High School shows the wear and tear of having served an average of 600 students daily over a period of 45 years. Its outward appearance is very deceptive. The saying, "Beauty is only skin deep," certainly applies to this building. If you have not been inside the Senior High School recently, I suggest you visit the building. It is creaking with age and use. It is also our most serious fire hazard. Its construction does not lend itself to remodeling into a modern school plant. I urge that you vote approval on the bond issue on February 18 so that we may construct a new elementary school and replace our high school."

Dr. Fred J. Hirn

"The foundation of American democracy is our public school system. There children from all walks of life learn to work and play together. If we are to preserve our American democracy, we must have a good public school system. The heritage which is ours must be passed on to our children if democracy is to survive. All the citizens of Escanaba have the responsibility for the education of all the children. We urge your support at the polls on Feb. 18."

C. Gust Peterson

"We are faced with a large increase in the number of elementary school pupils in the immediate future. This increase will be greatest in the southwest part of town, where most of the new residential construction has taken place during the last ten years. We must have class rooms for the children who will be waiting at the door steps of our schools. A new elementary school in the southwest part of town and a new senior high school are our greatest needs. I urgently request your support for this bond issue, which will be voted on February 18."

Dr. Louis R. Gross

"Some times we need specialists and the Board of Education selected Perkins and Will, Architects, who are specialists in the field of school building construction. They are now building 8 schools in Michigan, 3 in Massachusetts, 12 in New York, and 2 in Minnesota. You may have seen the new Negaunee school and gym and the Garden school which are Perkins and Will buildings. Their reputation is nation-wide; their charge is the standard fee for architects. Their reputation is based upon the facts that they build within the budget set by the Board of Education and that they construct sound functional buildings.

"Your approval of the bond issue on February 18 will be a sound investment for our children."

Harold E. Crebo

"Many Escanabans, natives or otherwise, have taken considerable pride in our Escanaba Public Schools. It has been a source of satisfaction to me to learn from people in many parts of the state of Michigan, the high place that is accorded our school system among the schools of the State. In spite of old buildings unsuited to modern methods of education, we have been able to maintain a high rating in comparison to school systems in cities of similar size. I hope that the pride that Escanabans have always had in their community will prompt them to support the best kind of education we can afford for our most precious investment—our children."

WSB Approves Paid Holidays

The Michigan Wage Stabilization Board has approved four paid holidays per year for 434 employees of the Escanaba Paper Company, it was announced today by M. S. Ryder, regional WSB chairman.

Decision of the Board that employees of the paper company would receive eight hours straight time pay for each of the four days not worked was based on WSB Regulation 13 which permits approval of fringe benefits which do not exceed industry or area practice as to amount or type.

The Regional Board also approved a 2.15 per cent wage increase for 32 salaried employes of the Escanaba Paper Company, adjustments in whose compensation are subject to WSB regulations. Approval was granted to correct inter-plant inequities and to maintain an established tandem relationship between wage increases granted production and salaried personnel. The increase is retroactive to June 18, 1951, at which time production workers—but not the salaried help-received a 2:15 per cent cost-of-living increase.

The petition asking WSB approval of the four paid holidays for hourly rated employees was filed jointly by officials of the company and of Locals 110 and 209, AFL.

Decision of the 12-man tripartite Regional Board was unanimous.

At the same time WSB approved four paid holidays for 434 employees of the Munising Paper Company.

Need For Relieving Court Load In 25th District Well Proved

WHATEVER decision is ultimately made by attorneys of the 25th judicial district as a recommendation for dividing the work load in the district, it is distinctly encouraging to note that efforts are under way to alleviate the unfavorable situation that now exists.

Circuit Judge Glenn Jackson's district of five counties, totalling nearly 150,000 population, is far too large for a single judge. The work load is staggering and is far out of proportion to the work load of other judges throughout the state.

Attorneys of the district are divided upon the best course of action. A poll of all attorneys is now being taken to determine the future course of action to be made by the District Bar Association.

Delta and Marquette county bar associations have indicated approval of a proposal to elect an additional judge to make the circuit a two-judge circuit. Considerable support has been indicated in other counties for a proposal to divide the district, with Menominee, Dickinson and Iron counties forming one district and Delta and Marquette counties the other. A bill has already been introduced in the state legislature by Rep. James Goulette of Iron Mountain to accomplish the second objective. Action on this bill undoubtedly will be withheld until further recommendations are received from the District Bar Association.

The one thing that attorneys throughout the district agree upon is that Judge Jackson should receive some relief from the burden of the staggering load he is now required to handle. Judge Jackson is doing a remarkable job under most unfavorable circumstances.

The work load in the judicial district also is increasing which increases the problem that now exists. It is important that a decision is reached soon upon the best method of solving this problem and then promote the necessary legislation to effect the solution.

Bad Weather Flights Need Rigid Inspection

THE nation's airlines have an overall safety record which stands up well with any form of public transport.

So there is no need, in the light of recent air crashes, to make spectacular cry for an exhaustive inquiry into all phases of air safety.

But in two of these mishaps, both in the New York area, there appeared to be certain elements of a pattern.

The American Airlines' plane which crashed in Elizabeth, N. J., and the Northeast Airlines' craft which plunged into the East River were each making touchy approaches to metropolitan airports under adverse weather conditions.

In each instance, the circumstances surrounding the crash were sufficiently puzzling as to call into question some government regulations governing bad - weather landings.

And it would also seem in order to conduct more than routine investigation of the effectiveness of radio and radar landing aids.

The Northeast plane, coming into LaGuardia Field on Long Island, was employing neither of the established landing aids—the radio beam which is supposed to keep a ship on course and on the proper glide path, or the radar-controlled approach directed by voice from the airport tower.

But it was being monitored by the airport radarscope and was receiving advisory reports on its position. Everything seemed to be satisfactory when the plane suddenly disappeared from the radar screen.

It was at this point it plunged into the water, a scant distance from the field.

The story was much the same over Elizabeth. The American Airlines' craft was being monitored by radar, and was also using the radio beam called Instrument Landing System.

The tower advised the pilot he was to the left of course, but gradually the ship was brought back on course. Then suddenly it veered sharply to the right and went off the screen.

Moments afterward it struck buildings in the city's heart.

The fact that other planes employing these electronic aids landed safely at Newark airport before and after this crash suggests the devices were not at fault. But aviation authorities acknowledge that accidental interference with these aids has occurred, and the possibility of their temporary failure cannot yet be ruled out.

If inquiry should establish that interference with their effective operation is fairly frequent, then federal regulations may have to be revised to insure greater safety in bad-weather approaches.

As it is, the CAA allows landings when visibility is three-quarters of a mile and the ceiling at 300 feet. This is not too much margin when the briefest slip may spell disaster.

In the end the blame in each instance may fall on failure of an engine or some other part of the plane itself.

But in these days of one and a half to three minute headway in landings and take-offs at our biggest airports, we must leave no doubt that operations under adverse conditions are governed with the most extreme care.

'Big Business' Is No Crime

AT frequent intervals, someone rises up and declares that the oil industry makes too much money, and something drastic ought to be done about it.

The best reply to that lies in what the oil industry is and what it does. Collectively, it is "big business" for the plain and simple reason that only big business could supply us with the incredible quantities of oil we and our friends abroad need and want. And it is a risky and complex business. For instance, it costs a lot of money to drill a wildcat well in search of oil—and only about one in five turns out to be a producer. If the oil people didn't stand a chance to make a profit, they wouldn't venture their capital on such hazardous undertakings. And, if that occurred, a future oil shortage would become inevitable.

The American people spend about $7,000,000,000 a year on oil products. And half of that—$3,500,000,000—goes right back to the government, through the Federal, State and local taxes levied on the industry and on oil products. A great deal of the rest goes to the 2,000,000 well-paid men and women the oil industry employs.

Then, when current bills are paid, oil companies must pour out huge sums to build and improve refineries, pipelines, tankers, and all the rest of their vast physical plant—the plant which converts the crude into a thousand and one useful products used by consumers. Does anyone really think that a financially-starved enterprise could accomplish this tremendous job

The amount which finally winds up in the pockets of the industry's tens of thousands of owners as dividends, represents one of the smallest slices of the oil dollar.

Thanks to Sulfa and Penicillin, Trachoma Is Being Conquered

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

One of the tragic causes of blindness has been almost conquered. This is an eye disease known as trachoma.

Trachoma was formerly responsible for a great deal of blindness among American Indians and was all too common among the residents of the mountains of Tennessee and Kentucky and the farmers of Nebraska, Iowa and South Dakota.

It is still the chief cause of blindness in some parts of Egypt and Palestine; until recently, 90 per cent of the people in certain of these regions were victims of this disease.

At first trachoma looks like any other acute inflammation of the outer part of the eye. The eye appears inflamed and thickened. Little blister - like bodies appear around the edges within a few days.

In three or four weeks the thickening and other signs becomes thypical of trachoma and are easy to distinguish from other inflammations of the eye.

The cause of this condition is a virus which unlike ordinary germs is too small to see under the microscope. Among the other symptoms, pain and sensitiveness to light may be severe.

In the late stages of this dangerous disease, the eyelid tends to drop down and the lids may become deformed.

The disease produces scarring of some of the tender tissues of the eye and this is what causes the inability to see.

EARLY DIAGNOSIS NEEDED

A correct and early diagnosis is the most important problem in the treatment of trachoma. Many treatments which are useful in other eye diseases, however, are not satisfactory for trachoma.

Some years ago the treatment consisted in painful and lengthy scraping off of the diseased tissues.

Even today, however, if the condition has lasted for a long time operations may be necessary.

The improved outlook for the sufferer from trachoma comes from the use of the sulfa drugs or penicillin. This is one of the few virus diseases which respond to these preparations.

Either of them, whether used locally, by injection, or by mouth, are highly effective in the early stages of the disease.

It is for these reasons that early diagnosis and prompt treatment are necessary so that blindness can be avoided and painful and difficult operations on the eye made unnecessary.

By the use of these preparations, and by recognizing trachoma as an infectious disease spread from person to person, it is becoming a constantly less dangerous cause of blindness.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—What the average citizen may not entirely realize about the huge new budget facing the nation is that 83 per cent of it is for the military. This includes mutual security aid to Europe, primarily military, and care of veterans.

Thus a 17 per cent chunk of the taxpayers' money remains for civilian purposes, including the Coast Guard, which is semimilitary, the FBI, Secret Service and other domestic policing agencies of government. While some further pruning may be possible in the civilian branches, especially in regard to the pork-barrel, rivers-and-harbors bill which no congressman wants to cut, nevertheless, the major opportunity for saving, if any is to be accomplished, must be from the military's 83 per cent chunk.

Yet the military have been least cooperative about even the most rudimentary principles of efficient spending.

Take merely the simple question of bidding against each other. One of the great pleas for unifying the Army and Navy was that it would save money; that the two branches of the armed services could pool their buying, not duplicate a list of thousands of items, such as towels, blankets, rope, pulleys, wrenches, all about the same whether used in the Army or Navy.

This, however, has not happened. Instead of working together on Army-Navy buying, there is now a third competitive service, the Air Force. It is true that much Air Force materiel is purchased for it by the Army, but efficient, unified buying, as done by a private business firm, just does not exist.

BUYING CARPENTERS' SQUARES

For instance, the Army to some extent competes with itself. Its catalog of commodities contains six different numbers for each Army branch—the signal corps, ordnance, transportation, engineers, chemical warfare, and quartermaster corps. Under this arrangement, such an item as a carpenters' square has six different numbers, according to the specification of the signal corps, ordnance, engineers, etc.

On top of this, the Air Force has to have a seventh number for the commodities it wants. And the cost of reprinting Army catalogs to add the Air Force's seventh number is about $1,500,000.

Congressman Hebert of Louisiana, now studying armed service inefficiency, estimates that millions of dollars could be saved by revamping this antiquated system of listing different competing prices for this Army-Air Force materiel.

Take the relatively simple question of buying carpenters' squares. There are only 12 inches in a foot, whether it be an Air Force square, a Navy square, or any Army square. Nevertheless, a carpenters' square for the quartermasters' corps costs 65 cents; for the Navy $2.00; for the Army $1.90; for the signal corps $2.10; for the Army engineers $1.48; for the Air Force $1.40; and for the Army transportation corps originally $4.35, though this was hurriedly corrected last week to $2.19.

I have seen all these carpenters' squares. They are all the same size, and as far as I can see almost identical. They all have 12 inches to the foot. Yet the price is different. Thus the mere paper work of buying separately and maintaining separate numbers in catalogs take extra time and money.

This may sound like a small saving. But when you multiply this inefficiency by millions of items and get up to big expensive weapons, it runs into tremendous amounts of money.

CLOSED-DOOR SESSIONS

The Senate Interior Committee held a super-secret meeting the other day and voted to stop printing secret transcripts in an effort to "keep Drew Pearson from finding out" what goes on behind closed doors.

As a test, no secret transcript was kept of the meeting that decided to ban secret transcripts. However, this column is able to report what happened.

Able Senators Clint Anderson of New Mexico and Gene Millikin of Colorado fussed and fumed over this column's word-for-word reports of what they had said behind closed doors. Philosophic Chairman Joe O'Mahoney of Wyoming agreed that it was an outrage, but added: "I have interviewed every member of the staff, and I am sure they are all in the clear."

"I know the source of the leak, and it wasn't anyone on the staff," snorted Anderson. He accused the official reporters who record the committee sessions of leaking. (Note—You're not even warm, Senator.)

O'Mahoney then suggested baning these official reporters. If no record is kept of closed-door meetings, he reasoned, Pearson will have trouble reporting what happened.

But the usually genial Gene Millikin was pessimistic.

"I'll bet you two to one that all that will result from this will be a story in Pearson's column that the committee was stumped."

Mrs. Kefauver: Red-Head Who Can't Stay Out Of Limelight

By CORNELIA BALL
NEA Special Correspondent

TWO-THIRDS OF KEFAUVER CLAN: On the edge of a swimming pool, Mrs. Kefauver, with Diane, 4, (left), and Gail, 15 months, gets splashed by Linda, 10. Son David, 6, is not in the picture.

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Nancy Kefauver, wife of Senator Estes Kefauver of coonskin cap and television fame, is a vivacious, Scottish-born red-head who has done much to endear Washington to the Kefauver clan.

The clan, which includes Linda, 10; David, 6; Diane, 4; and Gail 15 months, is an average one — except when the Senator appears on television. Then the dickens breaks loose in the family circle.

Last year, when Kefauver was investigating organized crime, his children disliked his work intensely.

"Oh, Mummy," they said, "Daddy's getting much more publicity than the cowboys on TV —and he's not nearly as good."

* * *

But Nancy Kefauver is a wise wife. She laughed with her children and stuck by her husband as she has done all her married life. She'll have lots more TV to contend with during her husband's race for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Actually Mrs. Kefauver has many claims to fame of her own.

Besides keeping house, and seeing to the daily needs of four young children, she does charity work, and paints portraits in her spare time. She and her husband relax by golfing, swimming, and usually take a short trip to Florida in the Winter.

NANCY KEFAUVER: After all, the cameramen are human.

They both enjoy entertaining and being entertained.

"We like to entertain informally," Mrs. Kefauver says. Then after a moment she adds "with four children I must admit, it's impossible to do anything else."

• • •

Many evenings the Kefauvers stay home with the children and read. "The Senator does a lot of studying," his wife explains.

Mrs. Kefauver is upset, however, over recent publicity she's given her husband.

While appearing on a Washington network recently, she spoke frankly of her family reactions to the Senator's presidential campaign.

"I had no idea all this would be printed," she says. "Actually I realize his becoming president is such a far cry from actuality, it's ludicrous to even think about it."

• • •

But she has managed to add dignity and charm to her husband's career. In 1948 during his senatorial campaign they toured Tennessee together.

"I always stayed in the background and never made any speeches," she says. "Perhaps, that's one reason he won."

Then during the crime investigations last year, while the eyes of the world were upon her husband, his pretty wife occasionally stole the show.

After all, cameramen are human, and Nancy Kefauver is known for her good looks.

* * *

Many people here believe Mrs. Kefauver is one of her husband's biggest drawing cards. She is well known and admired in Washington. She is even the topic of one of the Senator's favorite jokes.

"There's nothing Red about me," he says, "except my red-headed wife."

Young Nancy Pigott, daughter of baronet Sir Stephen J. Pigott —knighted for his part in building the Queen ships, Elizabeth and Mary—came to visit her mother's home town, Chattanooga, Tenn., in 1934.

"I came to see the country," she says, "but instead I met the Senator.

"Frankly," she adds, "I'm awfully glad I did."

Musk Ox Coming Back In Alaska

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The United States' effort to reestablish the musk ox in its former Alaskan range is proving successful on a small scale.

Latest census of the nation's only herd of the shaggy polar beasts on Nunivak Island in the Bering Sea off Alaska shows a head count of 76. When the herd was taken to Nunivak in 1935 it numbered 27 animals, all that were left of 34 captured in Greenland in 1930 and kept on the Alaskan mainland for five years.

Skeletons found in northern Alaska prove that musk oxen ranged there less than 150 years ago, says the National Geographic Society. It is believed they were killed off by the Eskimos, as were large numbers in northern Canada and Greenland. Now there are less than 15,000 of the species in a range running across the top of the western world from Canada's Great Bear Lake to Greenland.

The musk ox is not really an ox at all, but a member of the sheep family. It is known also as ovibos and polar ox. The average full-grown animal weighs 600 pounds, is 90 inches from nose to stumpy tail and stands 55 inches high at the shoulder.

Musk oxen are admirably equipped for polar life. They have an outer coat of long, coarse dark brown to black hair and a warm undercoating of wool that is shed every spring. They feed in winter on dormant grasses found beneath the snow.

They are armed against their natural enemies— wolves and polar bears—with long curving horns shaped somewhat like a walrus mustache that curves up at the tips.

When a herd is threatened by animal enemies the older bulls form a protective circle around the cows and calves. The bulls stand shoulder to shoulder, presenting their formidable horns to the enemy.

Animals attacking the musk-ox circle find it almost impenetrable, but it is a perfect target for man's gunfire, spears and arrows.

Good Evening . . .

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THE BARR SCHOOL—It was evening and we were on our way to the Barr grade school to attend another meeting of the school bond issue campaign group.

Children were shouting and skating and playing on the east side of the building, where a lighted skating rink serves the neighborhood youngsters during the winter months. That activity indicates the many years of community service the Barr school has given—service in education to the children, as a meeting place for the adults, a place to exercise that American privilege of the vote, and as tonight for the children to play and the adults to gather in planning for a new school to replace the old one.

The school was built in 1898, which makes it 53 years old. In all those years it has never been remodeled—or modernized as they say.

Only new addition to the building is an outside entrance to the basement, required when class rooms and an auditorium were moved downstairs when overcrowding became acute.

• • •

THE AUDITORIUM—At the foot of the stairs we turned and entered the school auditorium; where the meeting was being held. About 40 or 50 persons were present. Dr. Roy Johnson, chairman, stood at the north end of the room, backed by a wood platform raised less than a foot above the cracked concrete floor. The platform was the "auditorium" stage.

Overhead were the pipes of the heating system, together with conduits for ventilation. The ceiling was covered as well as possible around the pipes, but the thick stone walls of the basement were rough and cold.

One by one the chairmen of the various campaign committees arose from the hard straight chairs to present reports. Discussion followed and it was announced that after a tour of the building coffee would be served by the teachers and the PTA.

• • •

THE CROWDED BUILDING — During the tour of the building, conducted by John Bartel, the crowded and aged condition of the building was clearly visible.

Designed 53 years ago to hold 250 pupils, the building now is crowded with 340 youngsters from the Kindergarten through the Sixth grade. By 1958 it is estimated that enrollment in the Barr area will reach the 570 mark—far over building capacity.

From the basement room dignified by the name "auditorium" the group moved into a hallway leading to the stairs and the second floor. You ducked your head under the pipes going up. The worn wood stairs creaked underfoot.

Class rooms throughout the building were distinguished by two things: 1—Poor natural light and old lighting fixtures, windows that rattled in the breeze, and a general appearance of wear and tear that accompanies 53 years of use; and 2—Brightly new desk-seat units that contrasted strangely with the old building.

"The new seating can all be moved to the new building," Bartel explained.

• • •

THE BOILER ROOM—The Barr grade school is one that is reported to be most hazardous from the fire standpoint, although the others are little better.

Reasons for the Barr's high rating is its basement room where a boiler is alongside one class room and underneath another; the exposed wood beams above the heating plant; and the open wooden stairways.

The folks wandered about the building, coming back to the Second - Third grade combination class room in the basement for coffee and doughnuts.

• • •

AND CLASS ROOM — Miss Catherine McNamara, the teacher, poured coffee and smilingly answered questions.

Yes, the basement windows were too small to admit much natural light; yes, the lights had to be on all day long—but the lights were above the heating pipes and the pipes cast shadows on the desks.

On the way out after the meeting we found a committee of women in the "auditorium," bundled in coats and goloshes. The concrete floor was cold and a chill crept from the stone walls.

Outside the skating rink lights were off and the children had gone home and to bed. Perhaps a new school would be forthcoming faster if the parents, rather than their children, spent five days a week in the building.

Power With Words

A FRUSTRATED THUG

Not a long time ago the newspapers carried a story which told of the exploits of "a young thug of nine years." When you read what the word "thug" actually stands for, you will be amazed as I that anyone would apply it to a child of nine.

Some seven or eight centuries ago, perhaps longer, an association or band was formed in India with the purpose of honoring the goddess Kali, wife of Siva. The means chosen for honoring the goddess, however, was somewhat unusual. It was by sacrifice, but the victim must always be a wealthy man, and he had to be murdered secretly by strangling.

After a victim had been selected, three or four members of the band were appointed to follow him, perhaps many days and many miles, until an opportunity was presented to slip a noose about his neck. So skilled were they that the victim was usually dead before he struck the ground.

Among themselves, the members of this band of religious fanatics were called "p-hansigars," stranglers. But when the British took over the rule of India, they called the members "Thugs," a term meaning cheaters or rascals, and determined to wipe out the organization. Perhaps they did so. At least, four hundred of the murderers were hung in 1830 and a thousand more were deported or imprisoned.

Red Colonizers Sow Treason in Vital Defense Plants; F. B. I. Undercover Man Gets 'Floater' Role

XIII

I Get Into a 'Pro-4' Cell

In the dingy Ritz Plaza Halls, up a broad flight of treadworn wooden stairs on Huntington Avenue in Boston, the New England district Communists held an important "party builders" conference on Feb. 2, 1947. These were the red-necked, callous-handed labor leaders of shop and industrial branches and cells, the proletarian zealots with small theoretical understanding but big biceps and boiler-factory voices.

Manny Blum opened with an address that bore heavily on the need for increasing the party's membership, and set the theme of the meeting. More important than numbers, Manny said, was the influence of the party in key industries.

The program also stressed the importance of a "special sub-report" on Communist work in the shops, to be given by Joe Figureido, branch organizer from the heavily industrialized Fall River-New Bedford area of Massachusetts.

I saw Boone Schirmer, Margot Clark, Max Weitzman and a few others of long acquaintance. One of my favorite characters was present, Elba Chase Nelson, of the New Hampshire State organization, the little Russian "Yankee" who always delighted audiences by her mixture of regional expression and Marxist doctrine which came out in her corn-cracking voice something like, "We cannot fiddle-faddle any longer with fascist imperialism."

War Report

Fanny Hartman's report was next. As a background she sketched in the threat of an American-Soviet war, even though the official party line held that war was not inevitable. American imperialists, she said, were plotting a war against the Soviet Union, and in proof she offered the statements of irresponsible private citizens who loosely advocate drastic atom bomb measures to forestall Russian aggression. The major weapons in their possession were the big "key" industries, and it was around these "decisive" plants and factories that the nation's war apparatus revolved, she said.

One of them, she said, was the big General Electric Company plant at Lynn, Mass., where the government was then engaged—and this was news to me—in the manufacture of jet engines for aircraft. Others were the railroad yards; communications, including radio, telegraph, telephone and even the newspapers; the steel industry; shipyards, textiles, chemicals, and all of the heavy industries which were involved in the increasing tempo of the defense establishment. Fanny and the other speakers told the conference that it was urgently necessary for the Communist party to increase its strength in these industries in order to counteract the headlong rush toward an imperialist war.

Otis Hood took the platform next and resumed where Fanny left off. He used a new term, one I had never before heard in all of my party activities—"colonizers." A party colonizer, he declared, was a devoted member who would willingly give up his job in a non-essential industry or profession and move into one of the "decisive" basic industries.

My old friend Nat Mills was designated as one of the colonizers at the General Electric plant in Lynn, together with Don Tormey, who was already prominent there as a labor organizer, Don Bollen and Bob Goodwin. Nat later gave up his home in Malden and moved to Lynn to be closer to his job. Dave Bennett was assigned to the steel industry in Massachusetts. Gus Johnson, a carpenter by trade, shifted his work to the yards and shops of the Boston & Maine Railroad. The United Office and Professional Workers Union of the C. I. O. had a delegate present, who was informed that its "decisive" area was in the financial business, and that its critical point of concentration was in the big life insurance companies, notably the John Hancock Life Insurance Company of Boston.

Reports To FBI

The heaviest colonization program carried out in the New England district under Schirmer's direction was in the General Electric plant, which coincidentally was one of the biggest defense plants in the region. I promptly reported the colonization plan to Hal Leary at the F. B. I.

By the spring of 1947, my work shifted back to the political treadmill, and a period of frustration and comparative inactivity. The Communist party moved along with the old Political Action Committee into the coalition Progressive Citizens of America, the third party movement. Dr. Harlow Shapley, of Harvard, was elected honorary chairman of the organization that was eventually to become the Progressive party. Angus Cameron, at that time editor in chief of Little Brown & Company, was the chairman; Ruth Emery the secretary, and Marjorie Lansing was the executive director.

I did not have a position on the executive committee of this group as I had in the P. A. C., but I was asked to serve on the publicity committee, and this was sufficient to the purposes of the Communist party to get me in with sufficient "cover."

Hal Leary repeated in paraphrase the same admonition he had given me in connection with the Anthony Roche campaign. "We are not interested in the Progressive Citizens of America as long as it remains a normal political movement. But we are interested in what the Communist party is doing and is planning to do in it." In an effort to run this down for the Bureau I attended scores of afternoon teas, rallies, receptions and soirees, many of them intimate little gatherings held in middle and upper class homes in fashionable suburban areas and town apartments.

Gets Worried

I was uneasy for two reasons. I was moving away from my central interest in all of these activities — counter-spy work for the F. B. I. in the Communist party. And I was afraid that inactivity was making me careless and undermining my usefulness. After one of these lengthy and dull meetings I became so disturbed that I called Leary and made an appointment to meet him.

"I want you to meet Don Richards," Hal said right off, without ceremony. "He's going to be your contact man from now on."

One morning in late summer when we were starting work on a publicity campaign for Wallace's appearance in Boston at the end of September, a special messenger brought into the office an envelope with the letterhead of the P. C. A. It turned out to be a memorandum on a routine matter, typewritten, but scrawled across the botton of it was a penciled notation in a hand which I recognized.

"Call F. H.", was all it said. Fanny Hartman. Before I was able to comply, over the wire came the Harvard - accented voice of one of the top leaders of the P. C. A. asking me to meet him for lunch at Marliave's to discuss some of the arrangements for the Wallace appearance. This man whom I shall call Harry, was to my view an insufferable, overeducated bore; rich, a dilettante who dabbled in writing of sorts and in business enterprises which he did not need for his support.

"Fanny tells me she left word for you to call," he said, and now I knew for sure what he was talking about. He was saying:

"There's a new group to be formed in Pro-4 and Fanny says . . . ."

I felt myself start violently.

"I said," his cultivated voice came back softly, "a new group is to be formed in Pro-4 and Fanny says that there will be another change in your assignment."

That was the curious symbol that Fanny Hartman had scribbled on my credentials to get me into the 1945 convention hall. It was the second time in my party life that I had encountered the strange term.

"What about my present group in Melrose?"

"You will drop it. Drop out."

"Any explanation?"

"None is necessary," I told him that I had a meeting scheduled that very evening with my cell, at which I was to be the discussion leader. He suggested that I go ahead with it. "After that," the courier continued as if delineating an order, "you will become a floater. You will receive further instructions."

Free-Lance Agent

A "floater" I knew to be a party member, separated for security reasons from all normal party cells and organizations. He is a party free-lance agent and is contacted only by a few leaders, by courier, mail drop or covert telephone calls. The floater is but one step above the "sleeper," who is ordered to drop completely out of Communist ties, sever all his relationships with the party including the leadership, until he is called upon for a particular mission, perhaps years hence. Both floaters and sleepers have been used in Communist espionage and underground circles for many years in all countries as a means of concealment.

In the autumn darkness I waited on the corner of Revere and Charles until Harry drove up. He parked his car at the corner and turned into an apartment at Number 6. Lugging my heavy satchel of party literature, I puffed up two flights of steep, narrow wooden stairs at the top of which Harry knocked at a door. It was opened by a large, round-cheeked and effusive brunette girl with full color and a hearty hostess manner. She was introduced to me only as Norma. We passed through the cheerful foyer of the apartment toward a door leading to the living room.

On the sofa and in comfortable chairs ringing the softly lighted room there were six or eight persons, most of them women. There was an atmosphere of pleasant sociability. Norma took me by the arm.

Never had I seen a more innocent-looking gathering—the members of Pro-4, a cell of the Professional Group, Communist Party, U. S. A.

Judith Coplon Ducks Justice

By ROBERT C. RUARK

NEW YORK—We may as well give up, it certainly seems, on crime and punishment as applicable to Miss Judith Coplon, the home-grown spy, who has successfully ducked a long prison term for coming up to three years. Now, the saddled-shoed Mata Hari from Brooklyn has just heard the glorious tidings that the Supreme Court won't touch her with a ten-foot tort, which means no jail for Judy for sometime, if not forever.

There is no doubt that the little clerk worked with Valentine Gubitchev, a Russian engineer, who was employed by the United Nations. Both got nabbed by the FBI, and Judy stood trial twice, to be convicted twice. Both she and Gubitchev got 15 years. Instead of shooting the Russian, or socking him away in the freezer, we let him trickle back to the Soviet with a basket of bon voyage fruit.

Judy's freedom rests on a technicality. One court said her guilt was as obvious as a poke in the eye, but that her arrest was made under illegal conditions. The other court said her arrest was okay, but she rated a new day in court, if she could prove that the FBI built at least a portion of the case via tapped wires. In neither conviction was there indication of actual innocence of intent, or action by the fair Judith.

So here you have the unusual situation involving a clearly defined domestic spy, which is to say traitor, who is caught dirty-handed by the law, while in cahoots with a foreign agent. Her guilt is never in doubt, only the technicalities of her apprehension keep her free to serve as an object lesson of democracy at work. She was married, while out on bail, and, last I heard, was about to become a mother. If these be the wages of sin—and I cannot think of a more dreadful sin than treason—then we must be asking for abuse, when the opposition catches some of our people with the wrong papers in their pockets.

It is impossible to grow very angry or indignant about Judy's partner in espionage, because Gubitchev was merely performing as a loyal member of his country's spy system. From the standpoint of high patriotism, a spy is a valiant servant of his fatherland, since he bets his life for his country. I presume we have our own people asking questions and sneaking blueprints in strange places—I hope so, anyhow.

But we should have jailed Gubitchev, and from a standpoint of high moral indignation, we might justifiably have shot little Judy from Brooklyn. A traitor to his own country is seldom, if ever, trapped by circumstances beyond personal control. Treason is entered with intelligence and forethought of the penalty involved, and is altogether a cynical, callous crime for personal gain or evil principle. Coplon knew what she was doing, and why.

A wilful traitor actively contemplates or inactively condones mass murder, in the thousands and even millions, of his own people. A traitor is a potential murderer and jailer of his whole land, since every little piece of sedition contributes to the net plan of eventual overthrow. That is the way you have to see Judith Coplan to make her worthy of a drastic sentence — not as a silly girl who got sucked into a foreign government's web of intrigue, but as a vicious, purposeful enemy of her own nation.

And now we have patted her on the head for permanent, it seems, as the Supreme Court refuses the Department of Justice's request for a further trial of a twice-convicted spy. I doubt if she will serve her sentence, or even stand before another jury. She goes free as an adevrtisement that our homegrown benevolence condones high treason. Anr Gubitchev went back to advertise the softness of our country in dealing with foreign espionage agents.

In the meantime, to show the growing contempt of our softness, we have had Robert Vogeler, newsman Bill Oatis, and a crew of American fliers imprisoned for ransom by the satellites. We have a great record to date. We don't jail our own traitors, we turn loose other people's spies, and we meekly pay ransom for our own imprisoned nationals abroad. It makes you just a little bit sick.

5 Enter Pleas Of Guilty Here

Pleas of guilty were entered by five men arraigned on criminal charges and six other criminal case defendants were assigned lawyers by Circuit Judge Glenn W. Jackson in today's opening of the February session circuit court, one of the heaviest terms seen here for some time.

Guilty pleas were filed by Edward Liberty, to the charge of carrying a concealed weapon, by Donald J. Koish to unlawfully driving away an automobile, by Harry Hahn through Attorney Robert E. LeMire, on charges of accosting and soliciting a minor female, by James Reese through Attorney Claire Hoehn to the charge of resisting an officer, and by John Summers to charges of larceny, breaking and entering in the night time and escaping from jail, and by Douglas Schafer to taking and using an automobile without intent to steal.

The court appointed lawyers to six men currently confined in the county jail awaiting trial. The men and attorneys assigned to them are: Wayne Kinnart and Oliver Couillard, Nicholas A. Chapekis; John S. Provo, H. J. McConough; Hugh Hamilton Sheppard, Alger Strom; John L Balthazore, Clair J. Hoen; and James Poquette, John H. Root.

The number of cases calendared for this session of Delta county circuit court is among the highest ever heard here. The court expressed some doubt that the total number now listed would be heard in the time alloted to the Delta county term.

The term runs from Feb. 4 to 15.

In the event that all cases will not be disposed of in this session, Judge Jackson declared he would attempt to reopen court here after the term of Iron county circuit court, if time is available then.

Eight criminal cases were passed or to be continued at a later date and one, an appeal from Justice Court by Bert Lindbom, was stricken from the calendar.

The court reviewed this morning jury civil cases, non-jury civil cases, chancery cases and no-progress causes listed for this session; and scheduling of all cases to be heard was taken up in the afternoon period.

Reds Indicate Hope For An Armistice Accord In Korea

posed Jan. 31 that negotiations on three sections of the truce be conducted simultaneously to speed agreement on an armistice.

In accepting his suggestion the Reds agreed to provide a detailed working draft. They are expected to propose withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea — a pet Communist project—and a high level political conference to settle the whole Korean question.

U. N. headquarters in Tokyo said no recommendations will be made to governments involved in the Korean war unless the truce negotiators agree on what to recommend.

Lobby Optimistic

The disclosure killed off speculation that two separate sets of recommendations would be made.

Staff officers working on truce supervision and the prisoner exchange subcommittee will meet as usual at 11 a. m. Tuesday (8 p. m. EST Monday).

Admiral Libby Monday gave newsmen the most optimistic report of the prisoner exchange subcommittee's 53 meetings.

"We may be ready to go to the staff officer level in a day or two. I may be completely wrong, but I think we are beginning to make progress," he said.

At the same time, Libby emphasized that negotiators still are "180 degrees apart" on the major issues. Voluntary repatriation and safeguards to insure return of displaced civilians.

Father Held In Fatal Clubbing Of Son, 6

SEVIERVILLE, Tenn. — (AP)— A Sevier county laborer has been charged with murder in connection with the death of his six-year-old son.

Sheriff Roy Whaley said the charge was filed yesterday against Thomas Ball, 38. Whaley said Ball beat his son, Eufamous, to death in a drunken rage Saturday night.

The boy's sister, Ruby Fay, 4, witnessed the incident, Whaley said.

Whaley said the child was beaten with a broom handle and then with the arm from a rocking chair after the father was awakened by the children.

Ball's wife died a little more than a year ago.

Kiwanis Support School Bonding

Support of the school expansion bonding program to be submitted to voters of Escanaba Feb. 18 was voted by the Escanaba Kiwanis club following a question-and-answer forum on the subject at their regular meeting today.

The discussion was led by Attoney William E. Anderson, chairman of the speakers committee for the school project, who reviewed work of the civic advisory committee leading up to the proposed school construction program.

It was pointed out that the need for additional elementary school classroom space is an urgent one, which is one reason why the special election has been set for the early winter date. A new senior high school to replace the present outmoded and crowded building is second on the program, and it has also been urged that the city give thought at some time in the near future to the opening of a junior college here.

Ship Breaks In Two Off North Carolina; All 26 In Crew Safe

MOREHEAD CITY, N. C. — (AP) —All 26 crewmen of the freighter Miget reached shore safely in a single lifeboat today as hurricane-whipped winds broke the 2,600-ton Panamanian ship in two.

The captain, Ludolph Von Tangen of Belford, N. J., said the lifeboat crashed just before it reached the shore of Portsmouth Island. The men jumped out and waded ashore.

The freighter was abandoned at 2:55 a. m. (EST) about a mile and a half offshore as it started to break up. The vessel, owned by Carras Ltd., of New York City and carrying wheat from Baltimore to Brazil, drifted within 100 yards of shore and broke in two.

State Agencies Still Disrupted By Fire Of 1951

state highway department, was worried about the draft.

Map Bin Lighted

Shay, then 19, had a pretty blond wife and a seven months old baby.

"I wasn't afraid to go to war," he explained afterwards. "I just didn't see any reason for spending two years in training."

Draft officials said later that Shay, as a married man and father, would have been exempt anyway.

"I thought I'd start a little fire," Shay said. "I thought if I admitted it I'd be placed on probation and wouldn't have to go."

Shay touched a match to one of the maps stored in a bin on the mezzanine floor of the state office building. Then he went to lunch.

Fifteen firemen were injured fighting the spectacular blaze which resulted. In addition, Shay's match touched off a chain of circumstances that caused a major disruption of state government and changed scores of lives.

Staff At Lunch

Shay is currently serving a four to 10-year prison sentence for arson. His wife has divorced him. The earliest date he can be released is Feb. 8, 1954, third anniversary of the fire.

Most of the 1,300 state employes in the eight-story gray stone and steel building were at lunch when the fire was discovered. It was pay day and many of them were out cashing their checks.

Two workmen, temporarily trapped on the seventh floor, were led through the smoke to safety by firemen. All other employes were ordered out of the building.

The fire didn't look like too much at first. But when firemen tried to get at it through the one stairway that led into the alley-like mezzanine, they started dropping, overcome by the intense heat and fumes.

"We could smell the rubber burning on our coats," a fireman said. "We could stand the smoke but not that terrific heat."

Floors Cave In

Firemen had to pull back and fight a holding action. "I'm not going to kill men up there," declared one of the chiefs.

A call went out for more help. Fire departments from Battle Creek, Flint, Jackson and Grand Rapids responded.

Toward evening a section of the seventh floor caved in. The spectacular gush of flames shooting high above the building served as a beacon to guide out-of-town engines to the scene.

The heavy marble floors started to buckle and the desperately weary firemen had to retreat down through the building during the night.

The millions of gallons of water poured into the top floors first seeped, then cascaded, toward ground level. There was a frantic scurrying to spread tarpaulins but plush offices, machines and furniture were damaged and tons of valuable state records were water-soaked beyond salvage.

The state library, on the ground floor, was the last to feel the flood but later collected more than $250,000 in insurance for damage to books and manuscripts.

Near-zero temperatures added to the agonies of the firemen, particularly those manning the aerial towers that rimmed the block-long building.

By morning the building was crusted with ice and leaking streams of dirty water at every pore. The fire was still burning. It was the following day before the fire was still officially termed "under control." It was a week before piles of rubbish stopped smouldering.

A dozen major state agencies including such departments as highway, conservation, corrections, administration and agriculture were homeless.

The fire prompted an inspection of other state buildings and led to the branding of the 73-year-old state capitol as a "fire trap." Some alterations have been made and others are still pending.

The state departments driven out are operating in vacant stores, quonset huts, an auditorium, an old bus station and an armory.

The state office building fire was voted the second biggest story in Michigan last year by Associated Press editors. The sequel is still being written.

National Guards Get Into Action In Korea

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The commitment of a second National Guard division to the Korean front for battle experience raised the question today of whether similar policy might be followed for some of five other Guard or regular Army outfits in the United States.

Over the weekend, the Far East command in Tokyo announced that elements of the 40th National Guard division of California are in action. The 45th of Oklahoma went into the line several weeks ago.

Gain Combat Experience

Both divisions had been in Japan since last Spring on occupation and training duty. The 45th relieved the regular Army's First Cavalry division, one of the first units to engage the enemy in the Korean war. The 1st Cavalry has returned to Japan.

In light of this precedent and in view of the point made in the truce negotiations about an agreement against no enlarging of forces, it seemed probable the 40th is to replace one of the regular divisions in action.

While the troop rotation program had some part in the decision to send Guard units as replacement for regular Army outfits in Korea, the major reason obviously is to give divisions actual combat experience.

Under the draft law, the tour of federal duty for individual members of several of the federalized Guard units, including two in Europe, will begin to run out this summer.

Units Kept Intact

The Army proposes to keep the Guard units in existence, retaining their identity and major equipment and filling the vacancies with volunteers and inductees into the regular army. It has asked Congress for the legislation necessary to do this.

The Army also announced recently that before the deadline for releasing individual Guardsmen was reached, the men would be brought back to the United States in time to have them here when their enlistments expired.

Demands are coming from some states for return of the Guard organizations as a unit. Over the weekend, Gov. Sigurd Anderson of South Dakota made public a letter he sent the Army insisting that the 196th Regimental Combat team be returned as a unit. That outfit was brought into federal service in September, 1950, and is stationed in Alaska.

Government Purge Boss Linked With Reds By Potter

Republican lawyer from New York, has announced his first investigation will center around the justice department headed by Attorney General McGrath, the man who appointed him.

Staff Chief Picked

He was formally sworn in last Friday with President Truman's approval to supervise survey of all government departments in the wake of Congressional investigations into alleged tax scandals and other irregularities in the federal government.

He announced in New York last night he hoped to have Louis E. Yavner, former New York City commissioner of investigation, as his "chief of staff'.

Task Complicated

As he reports for work today in a suite of offices set aside for him in the justice department building, Morris already has found his job complicated by these developments:

1. An administration appointee, he immediately became the target of criticism from many Republicans and some anti-Truman Democrats.

2. The possibility arose that Morris himself might come under Congressional scrutiny in connection with a profitable surplus ship deal.

3. A House judiciary committee is making a separate investigation of McGrath's conduct of the Justice Department. Rep. Keating (R-NY), who initiated this probe, suggested in a telegram to Morris last night that he team up with the committee.

Asserting the power of subpoena will become essential to a thorough inquiry, Keating wired: "I trust you will freely avail yourself of facilities of our committee. Conversely, I assume we may appeal to you if we encounter any lack of cooperation by Attorney Generol or failure to furnish full information . . ."

4. A federal grand jury began an inquiry into income tax irregularities involving such figures as Abraham Teitelbaum and Henry W. (The Dutchman) Grunewald.

Broken Car Wheel Blamed For $500,000 Alabama Train Wreck

CALERA, Ala. —(AP)— Preliminary investigation indicates that a costly passenger-freight train wreck which injured five people Saturday was caused by a broken freight car wheel.

The Louisville & Nashville's Pan American crashed into a partly derailed freight near here during a rain storm. The collision splintered cars and derailed the passenger's diesel engine and baggage cars.

Others of the estimated 125 persons aboard the Pan American were shaken up in the crash about 33 miles south of Birmingham.

C. C. Owen, Alabama Public Service Commission president, said yesterday a preliminary investigation indicated that the wreck was caused by loss of a flange on the 30th car of the 54-car freight train.

A flange is the large inner part of a train wheel which grips the rail. Without the flange a car apparently was derailed into the path of the oncoming Pan American, Owen said.

Damage from the collision was placed at between $500,000 and $750,000.

Japanese Stragglers Ambushed By Fierce Philippine Spearmen

MANILLA—(AP)—A police report today said fierce Mangyan tribesmen wielding spears and arrows killed 16 Japanese stragglers of World War II on a small islet southwest of Manila.

The Mangyans hid in thick underbrush of the jungle covered islet and ambushed the Japanese when they returned from foraging for food.

Fourteen Japanese were killed by spears in the first onslaught, the report said. Two who tried to run were brought down by arrows. The Japanese fought futilely with bayonets and swords. Their ammunition was corroded and useless.

The islet is off the coast of Busuanga island in the Calamian group about 175 miles southwest of Manila.

President Of Ferris, B. J. Brophy Resigns

BIG RAPIDS, Mich.—(AP)—President Byron J. Brophy of Ferris Institute has resigned because of ill health, it was announced today.

Federal Judge Raymond W. Starr, Grand Rapids, chairman of the Ferris board of control, said the resignation, effective June 30, had been accepted by the board in a meeting here Saturday.

Brophy was granted immediate leave of absence until June, and Dr. Karl G. Merrill, vice president and veteran faculty member, was appointed acting president.

Brophy became president of Ferris in 1946 when the fortunes at the school, founded by the late Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris, were at a low ebb.

Under Brophy's administration the school was completely renovated, its indebtedness wiped out, and enrollment built up to an all-time modern peak of 1150.

Judge Starr said President Brophy, long in ill health, had first submitted his resignation last year. The board at that time prevailed upon him to remain on the job.

Letters To The Editor

Duplication of Effort

Dear Editor:

I have been following the work done by the March of Dimes campaign committee carefully and sincerely believe that the committee members are doing a masterful job. They are to be congratulated for their many original and unique ideas for promoting funds to be used for polio victims. Truly, everyone must agree that this is one of the most worthy of all charitable causes. Everyone should respond generously to these efforts.

Having worked on the Community Chest campaign recently, the thought comes to mind that it would be a wonderful thing to utilize the splendid management of the Polio Fund Drive, and the managements of the other health drives that are inevitably coming, for ONE BIG DRIVE. Organized on a large scale with a large pool of helpers, I believe it would be a terrific success.

It is evident that there is much duplication in effort when many drives are conducted for charitable funds. Letters are written to the same persons; stationery, stamps, and more important clerical work and labor are duplicated. The people of the community are asked to contribute to worthwhile causes five or six times a year.

I believe that it makes sense for all charitable fund-raising organizations to pool their ideas, their ingenuity, and their efforts and have one big drive each year. This drive could last one or two months and many different appeals tried. The merits of each member of the Community Chest could be emphasized by use of the newspapers, movies, radio, etc.

An active well informed Community Chest organization with the best brains of all charitable fund-raising organizations could carefully study individual budgets and promote real efficiency in fund-raising, and thus make it easier for the person who pays—John Q. Public.

The annual meeting of the Community Chest will be held at the council chambers of the city hall on February 19, 1952, at 7:45 p. m.. Election will be held to elect a new board of directors and officers for the Delta County Community Chest for the coming year. Foremost on the agenda is the question of enlarging the scope of activity by taking in new worthy organizations.

It is hoped that a large number of citizens of Delta county will come to the annual meeting on February 19, 1952. It is a public meeting and it should be emphasized that the constitution of the Delta County Community Chest reads that "Each contributor to the Delta County Community Chest Fund is a member of this organization."

Sincerely,
NICHOLAS P. CHAPEKIS.

OPPOSED TO HIGHER TAXES

To the Citizens of Escanaba:

Yes, I am opposed to higher taxes, but I am not opposed to better and finer schools, providing the people can afford such a program at this time. I call your attention to the coming Special School Election, February 18th, when you, Mr. Citizen must deside whether your present income will permit an increase in taxes and an increase in your present rent. These advances in your expenses are necessary and will be collected from you for the construction of the proposed new school buildings.

I believe that there is a need at this time for one new school building. This could be a new senior high school or a new grade school, but not both. If a new senior high school would be decided upon, the old high school could be very nicely used as an additional grade school. This would alleviate the immediate need for another grade school for the next 4 or 5 years. Another school election could be introduced at that time and if there is a need for an additional grade school that would be ample time in which to build it, providing you, Mr. Citizen could incur another tax or rent increase.

In following this pattern, it would materially reduce the terrific proposed millage tax increase of 7.5 or 10, to approximately 2.5 or 3 mills. This plan would affect a substantial saving to all home-owners and renters. The construction of a senior high school at this time should establish, in my opinion, adequate school accommodations for the immediate future.

In my business I come in contact with many people, and I know that there are many families in Escanaba who are sorely pressed for funds to meet their present obligations, I refer to both home-owners and renters. Many of my tenants, and they are all good tenants, are in arrears with their rent from 2 to 6 months, notwithstanding the fact that rent should be paid just as promptly as food and clothing. Without shelter for a family is as bad as the need for other necessities of life.

I hold checks that are stamped "NSF" which were given me in lieu of rent due, and while these checks were given in good faith, yet the person could not acquire sufficient funds to cover it. I, as other landlords, do exercise patience with our tenants, as we realize they are hard pressed with other huge obligations.

Let us assume, for a moment, that this tremendous school program were voted upon, and as a result that all or most all property owners who rent property were forced to increase their rent? The situation would become even more embarrassing and more perplexing to the tenant and to the home-owners. The very fact that the average home in Escanaba is assessed at about $2500.00 is evidence in itself that there are many people in Escanaba who are not wealthy and who cannot afford higher taxes.

The proponents of this extensive school program are naturally sincere but apparently are not familiar with the pressing problems of many people in this city. For the average home owner it is not 5 cents per day, it actually is $25.00 per year, for the next 20 or 30 years. For many it means considerable more than this, according to their assessed valuation.

With building costs at an all-time high and going higher, visualize, if you will, the tremendous cost of such a huge building program, the effect on the community is staggering, especially with all the other expenses that are to come. We hear reports from high Governmental officials that another serious depression is due in 1954 or 1955, and this will create a shortage of money and employment, nevertheless these bills must be paid, even though we built the new schools with cheap money, and high labor, materials and supplies at peak prices.

Due to the gravity of the situation, I will write you several more letters on problems even more serious than the school problem.

Sincerely yours,
H. E. Flath.

Indonesia Devalues Currency To Speed Up Her Foreign Trade

JAKARTA, Indonesia—(AP) — Indonesia today trimmed the official value of its currency by just over two thirds in a move planned to stimulate foreign trade. The value of the Indonesian Rupiah was set at 11:40 to the U. S. dollar—8.7 cents.

The official rate, set in March, 1950, when the currency was devalued 50 per cent, was about 26 cents to the rupiah. In Jakarta's business section, the rupiah on the free or black market has been worth only about six cents.

Other new official rates established were: Pound sterling, 31.7 rupiahs; Dutch Guilder, 3.3 rupiahs; Straits (Singapore) dollar, 3.57.

Wall Street

By RICHARD FISKE

NEW YORK — (AP) — Prices were fairly evenly mixed between gains and losses in the stock market today.

Changes in either direction were mostly in fractions. There was no definite trend but some issues showed a tendency to ease a little from their opening prices.

Activity quieted quickly after a moderately brisk opening. Traders appeared cautious and buying was selective.

A fair number of 1,000 to 1,500 share blocks changed hands shortly after the starting gong at prices that ranged from steady to a few cents either way.

There was no news of special significance to turn the market either up or down and for the most part prices responded to individual corporate reports.

Most of the major steel stocks were a shade lower as Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, presented his arguments against a pay boost for steel workers before a wage stabilizotion board panel.

Fairless said his company could meet wage demands and hold its present prices but it would result in a 60 per cent reduction in its federal income tax payments.

Corporate bonds were ahead slightly in a quiet market. U. S. governments were steady.

Augsburg College Choir In Concert Here Sunday, Feb. 10

The Augsburg College Choir of Minneapolis which has gained a wide following through its previous appearances in Escanaba, will present a concert Sunday, Feb. 10, at Bethany Lutheran Church Auditorium, 1st Ave. S. and 11th St. under the sponsorship of the Immanuel Lutheran Church.

The general public is invited by the Rev. Johannes Ringstad, pastor of the sponsoring parish, to attend. The program will begin promptly at 7:30 p. m.

"College choirs are made not born," is the opinion expressed by Leland B. Sateren, director of the Augsburg Choir. "For the average choir concert of somewhat less than two hours duration, thousands of manpower hours have been utilized throughout the year in order to achieve concert performance perfection."

Competitive choir tryouts are held annually in September to determine the choir personnel for the coming year. A group of approximately 55 persons is chosen from a field of nearly 400 students who try out for the choir.

Practice Starts Early

Choir members must attend regular practice sessions from the beginning of the school year. In addition to "sectional" practices the full choir rehearses three times a week. It is estimated that choir members put about ten hours per week into organized practice.

The Choir sings a cappella and all music must be memorized. This is done by Choir members outside of regular practice hours. Choral selections in foreign languages present special problems and must be given individual attention. This year the concert repertoire includes choral selections in English, Latin, Norwegian and German.

The Choir is organized in the conventional manner with a set of elective officers who discharge the routine business of the group. In addition to this, the membership of the entire Choir is divided into committees with special duties and responsbilities which must be carried out throughout the year. One committee is delegated with the responsibility of choir gown care; another, choir stands; another, music library. Other committees assist the choir manager with transportation, ticket sales, programs and advertising.

Full Study Course

All members carry a full schedule of academic courses in addition to their Choir participation. A survey of majors and minors of Choir members indicates that all major professions and vocations are represented in the students' choice of a lifetime occupation after completion of college.

Highlights of the Choir's activities throughout the school year include the annual Homecoming concert, the Minneapolis Community Christmas concert, an annual concert tour and the spring concert in Minneapolis.

This year's tour by the Augsburg Choir includes about 30 concert appearances in more than 20 communities throughout Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan.

A playlet, "PTA Cornerstones", will be presented as a feature of the Founders Day program at a meeting of the Lincoln Parent-Teacher Association Thursday evening at Lincoln school, it is announced.

The play, directed by Miss Winnifred Orr, PTA program chairman, will have the following cast:

Spirit of the Founders, Jane Macfarlane; home, Toni Frans; school, Betty Sheldon; church, Lois Mersnick; community, Jean Briggs; Spirit of PTA, Laura Henry. Mrs. Virgil Henry will play background music for the production.

Dinner At 6:30

The program also will include piano selections by Nick Babladelis and songs by the Mother Singers.

A 6:30 dinner will precede the business meeting and program. Those desiring to attend are requested to contact committee members.

Mr. and Mrs. Vilas Young are co-chairmen in charge of the event. Other committee heads are Mrs. William Bauman, chairman of the mothers committee of Mrs. Raymond Males' second grade room, and Mrs. J. J. Van Dyck, chairman of the mothers committee of Mrs. Edgar Smith's third grade room.

A short business session under the direction of Mrs. L. E. Wilson, PTA president, will precede the program.

Ten past presidents of the Lincoln PTA group have accepted invitations to be guests at the session as well as several teachers who were members of the first westside PTA and others who have played an important part in the history of the organization, Mrs. Young announced Saturday.

Started In 1916

According to Mrs. Young the first westside PTA was organized in the fall of 1916 with the following officers: President, Mrs. L. R. Thornton; secretary, Margaret Van Dyck (now Mrs. William Mueller Jr); and treasurer, Mrs. Bert Hulshof. Mrs. Ida Fowler and Mrs. Irma Waters installed the officers.

Riverside parents were affiliated with this group until the autumn of 1931 when a Riverside PTA was formed, with Mrs. C. Carstensen as president and Mrs. Walter Burns as vice president.

The Lincoln PTA was reorganized in the spring of 1932 with the following officers: President, Mrs. Leo Dean; secretary, Martha Hamar (now Mrs. Clifford Cool); and treasurer, Mrs. Dora Cournaya.

In June, 1933, another meeting was called to consolidate Lincoln and Riverside PTA's into one unit. Since the merger the following persons have served as president of the organization:

Mrs. Leo Dean, Mrs. Ludwig Hough, Mrs. F. Danielson, Mrs. Keith Bundy, Mrs. Jess Archey, Mrs. Milton Ketcik, Mrs. Vilas Young, Mrs. Vertin Guidebeck, Mrs. J. J. Van Dyck, Mrs. John Hanson, Mrs. Roy Briggs and Mrs. L. E. Wilson.

Polio-Crippled Boy Helps Save Skater

NORTH HAVEN, Conn.—(AP)—Boy Scout Danny Holt, 13, did his good deed for the day by helping to rescue a young skater who broke through the ice of a pond.

Danny is a polio victim, and still wears a brace on his left leg. But he didn't let that stop him when he saw Edward Ashby, 11, struggling in the water.

The crippled youngster, a New Haven Journal-Courier newsboy, crawled on the ice to a point where, by stretching out flat and extending his arms, he could support the younger boy. Three other boys, Ronald Martindale and Walter Jensen, both 13, and Clinton Avrill, 14, then pulled them both to safety.

Bank Puts Out $10 In Lobby For Change

YONKERS, N. Y.—(AP)—The Central National Bank says its honor change-making system has worked so well that it has doubled the kitty from $5 to $10.

The bank on Wednesday started letting people make their own change from a bin of coins in the lobby. Nobody watched, and users were on their honor not to cheat.

Bank president Gerald S. Couzens said the risk has been "doubled" because "people are of proven honesty." He also said the larger kitty does not have to be filled as often as the $5 one.

Resorts Urged To Have Folders

Early preparation of advertising folders by resorts in the Manistique area is being urged by the Top O' Lake Michigan Chamber of Commerce, it is announced by Fred D. Heltman, acting secretary.

Requests for resort information already are being received by the chamber from people in Illinois, Indiana and Ohio, Heltman said. In order to properly answer their inquiries the chamber should have a supply of literature from every resort catering to summer visitors, he said.

The chamber secretary stressed the importance of illustrated folders. "People living in metropolitan and adjoining areas usually know very little, if anything, about the Upper Peninsula, and they would like to see pictures of what we have to offer," Heltman said. He also said that information on accommodations and rates should be provided.

Heltman also directs attention of resorters to the fact that the Michigan Tourist Council maintains branch offices in Chicago, Detroit, Lansing and Cleveland.

"These offices will stock and distribute resort folders without charge directly into the hands of prospective customers," he pointed out. "All you need do is supply them with good, illustrated folders—the kind that have eye appeal and also give necessary information. Business cards are not adequate for this purpose; only the well-printed folder can do the advertising job right," he stated.

Husband Of Former Manistique Woman Passes In Detroit

Wendell Vreeland, 55, husband of the former Clara Sellers, of Manistique, passed away recently in Detroit following a heart attack. He was director of the division of research and publications at Wayne University in Detroit. Private funeral services were held.

He was born in Dayton, O., and was graduated from the University of Michigan. His first teaching position was in Hamilton, Mich., and he went to Detroit in 1929.

He served in World War I, and was a member of the Detroit Power Squadron and the Navigators Club.

His wife, Clara, and three sons, Robert, of Rochester, N. Y., and Bruce and Charles, of Detroit, survive.

Gavilan Fights Dykes For Title

MIAMI, Fla. —(AP) — Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan puts his title on the line tonight in a scheduled 15-round fight with Bobby Dykes before what promoters say will be a 16,000 crowd in Miami Stadium.

Maj. W. H. Peeples Miami promoter working under auspices of the International Boxing Club, said advance ticket sales reached $32,500 and predicted a gross gate of $100,000.

There will be no radio or telecast of this, the first mixed match in Miami boxing history and the first title fight authorized under Florida law.

Gavilan was a 4 or 5 to 1 choice to retain the title he won from Johnny Bratton on May 18, 1951 in New York's Madison Square Garden. The Cuban Negro successfully defended the title against Billy Graham, also in Madison Square Garden, last Aug. 29.

Gavilan will get 37½ per cent of the gate and Dykes 17½ per cent.

Red Wings Jump Lead In National Hockey League

DETROIT — (AP)—The Detroit Red Wings have a 10-point edge on the rest of the National Hockey League today because capable Ted Lindsay was able to take advantage of one of the rare mental lapses on the part of New York goalie Chuck Rayner.

Lindsay's point-blank goal in the final minutes of play last night gave the Wings a 4-3 victory in a game that was an uphill struggle all the way.

It came when the veteran Rayner cleared a long shot by Sid Abel in front of his own net. Lindsay was right on hand, and he pounced on the puck and fired it in to produce the winning goal.

Twice the Detroit club had come from behind while 13,134 fans cheered.

The fifth-place Rangers got off to a good start when Herb Dickenson scored in the opening period and Wally Hergesheimer shoved in another goal early in the second stanza.

But Gordie Howe's 30-footer past Rayner put Detroit back in the game, and rookie Fred Glover tied the score just before the second period was over.

That deadlock lasted until 11:51 of the final frame, when Wing Glen Skov tried to stop a 40-foot shot by Steve Kraftcheck and accidentally deflected the puck into the Detroit goal.

This time defenseman Red Kelly did the honors in tying the score. With less than seven minutes left, he took a pass from Lindsay and shot it 20 feet into an open corner.

Then came Lindsay's good break and his 17th goal of the year.

Howe, by his evening efforts, boosted his total of goal to 26 and his point score to 51. Both top the NHL.

The Red Wings outshot the Rangers 32 to 20.

Saturday night, at Montreal, Detroit and the Canadiens fought to a 2-2 tie.

Eskymos, Trojans Rest Until Friday

Escanaba has won five of 10 games this season while St. Joe has nine wins, two defeats.

Pioneers Whip Marquette 10-1

HOUGHTON—All of the wandering Portage Lake Pioneer hockey players were back in uniform Sunday afternoon and contributed to a 10 to 1 Northern Michigan League win over Marquette. It was the fourth straight victory for Portage in eight days, three of them over Marquette and the other over Calumet Saturday night in Calumet.

Scoring for Portage Lake Sunday were Ruohonen, Shetney, B. Ruelle, Tony Bukovich, O. Brien and J. Ruelle in the first period.

After a scoreless second period, the Pioneers teamed up for four more counters credited to B. Ruelle, Joe Bukovich, Ruohomen and M. Bukovich.

Lawrence made Marquette's only score in the last period on a pass from Boesler. Only five penalties were meted out, all of them for minor infractions.

The Portage-Calumet game at Calumet Saturday drew 2,200 fans, largest hockey crowd of the season in these parts. Bernie Ruelle, Jackie Ruelle, Shetney and Joe Bukovich accounted for all of the Portage scores. Calumet was the aggressor through most of the game after the first period as Luoto kicked out 28 stops while Sotlich of Calumet made 17 stops.

MSC Track Team Tips Notre Dame

EAST LANSING—(AP)—Michigan State's young track talent showed great promise for the future in field events as the Spartans beat Notre Dame 61⅔ to 52⅓ in the opening dual meeting of the season for both squads here Saturday night.

Two sophomores and a freshman combined to sweep three of the four field events as Michigan State won seven of the 12 events in the meet.

Jim Vrooman, freshman high school champ from Wabash, Ind., set a new dual meet record in the high jump in his first appearance in collegiate competition. Vrooman went six feet three and three quarter inches to shatter the old meet record of six feet two inches by MSC's Jim Milne in 1947.

Hamtramck sophomore Russell Olexa won the broad jump by clearing 22 feet 3½ inches. Don Schiesswohl, Saginaw sophomore and a guard on the football team, won the shotput with a throw of 49 feet two inches, bettering the meet record of 47 fee 11 inches by MSC's John Mueller in 1947.

Hawks Whip Calumet 6 To 0 For First League Shutout

A defensive game the likes of which Escanaba hockey fans have never seen gave the Hawks a 6-0 shutout over the Calumet Radars in a Northern Michigan League clash here yesterday afternoon.

In posting their first shutout in two seasons of fast league play, the Hawks had a stonewall in the nets in the form of Ben Artwich of Stambaugh. Big Ben turned back 14 Radar shots in the first period, 13 in the second and eight in the third.

Jerry Taggliabacci was likewise a defensive standout for the aroused Hawks who gained revenge for their final-minute defeat at the hands of the same Radars here Wednesday night. It was the first Hawk win over Calumet this season.

Sense Shutout

The Hawks sensed a shutout in the making at the close of the second period and went all out to save it for Artwich. So tight was the Escanaba defense in the final period that the Radars did not get a clean shot off until past the halfway mark in the frame. Ben made his first stop at 10:40 in the period. In the meantime the Hawks had hammered nine shots at Frank Sotlich in the Calumet net.

Besides playing a brilliant defensive game the Hawks flashed a dangerous scoring punch that produced three goals in 53 seconds late in the second period.

Ice was slow yesterday and players tangled frequently in an effort to keep the sluggish puck moving. Nine penalties were called in the game, four on the Hawks and five on the Radars.

First Score

Wingman Joe Ricci gave the Hawks a 1-0 lead in the first period with a clean beat of Sotlich. Ricci speared a pass from Taggliabracci in Escanaba's defensive zone, spurted alone across the blue line and pulled Sotlich out of position to score at 10:15.

The Hawks were in trouble late in the period with Ted Olson and Taggliabracci sitting out penalties. But Artwich rose to the occasion and beat off repeated Calumet soring threats.

Early in the second period Artwich came out of the nets twice to break up Calumet shots. Don Nichols belted Artwich twice with zooming shots but was unable to get past the scrapping Hawk goalie.

Newcomer Rusty Hiltunen scored his second goal of the season at the 13:30 mark in the second period. Taggliabracci was again the playmaker, spotting Rusty eight feet out with a perfect pass.

With a two-point cushion, the Hawks rang the bell three more times before the period ended. Mark Olson registered at 17:32 on a double pass from Ted Olson and Ed Broughton, Ricci connected with his second score at 18:15 on a double pass from Ted and Mark, and John Cortopassi beat Sotlich on a beautiful pass from Guy Poce who carried the puck right to the net before feeding Cortopassi.

Poce's final score at 15 minutes in the third period was an anti-climax as the Hawks battled hard for the shutout. Poce scooped in a double pass from Ted Olson and Cortopassi to light the red marker.

It was the second shutout suffered by the Radars who hold down second place in the league standings. The Portage Lake Pioneers turned the trick, 5-0, on Jan. 15.

The Hawks return to action here Wednesday night against the front-running Pioneers.

Marquette Cagers Topple Michigan By 64 To 57 Score

MILWAUKEE—(AP)— Michigan's defense weakened for one quarter and that was all Marquette's basketball team needed for a 64 to 57 victory here Saturday night.

The Wolverines moved out into a 28-26 lead at halftime after trailing by one point, 13-12, at the first quarter mark. But the Hilltoppers put on the pressure after the intermission and came back with 27 points in the third period to put them 10 points in front.

Michigan brought the edge back down to 58-52 late in the final quarter but never could catch up again.

The Wolverines' center, Milt Mead, looped in 21 points to head both teams in scoring. Marquette's top man was Bob Walczak, who collected 14, all in the last half.

Trojans Beat Munising 51 To 49 With Rally In Final 35 Seconds

MUNISING —(Special)—After leading throughout most of the game the St. Joe Trojans had to come from behind in the final half minute here last night to edge the Munising Mustangs 51-49.

Munising overcame a 27-22 halftime lead and narrowed the gap to 36-34 at the three quarter mark. The lead changed hands a number of times as the two quints traded baskets and free throws in the final period.

The Mustangs had a 47-45 lead with two minutes remaining. Reserve guard Bob Sendenburgh erased the deficit for St. Joe with a pair of free throws, his only points of the evening.

Tunteri Misses

With 35 seconds remaining in the game the Mustangs had a two-point spread, 49-47. Forward Jim Tunteri shot from the corner and missed, St. Joe taking the rebound and moving fast down the court. Guard Jim Gravelle potted a one-hand push from the free throw line to tie it up 49-49.

Munising worked the ball down into scoring territory but was pressed and lost it out of bounds. In a scramble in front of the St. Joe net, center Pete Kutches came up with the ball and flipped in a one-hander to put the Trojans out in front, 51-49, with 15 seconds remaining.

Tunteri still had time for a shot for Munising and missed again. Kutches drove in for a layup seconds later and was fouled in the process of shooting. He missed his first free throw attempt and took the ball out of bounds. The final whistle blew as he tossed the ball into play.

Slow Basketball

It was a slow game throughout with the Mustangs throwing a 2-2 zone at the Torjans with one man trailing Kutches. The Stan Wickman-coached Mustangs slowed up play and made the Trojans play their brand of ball.

For St. Joe it was the second win in a row after a pair of losses to Gwinn and Escanaba and the ninth victory in 11 starts this season.

Kutches paced the Trojans on the scoreboard 24 points on 10 field goals and four of 10 baskets. The Trojans made nine of 20 gift shots.

George Sturgeon, Munising forward, snared scoring honors for the evening with 27 points.

The Trojans are idle until Friday night when they travel to Stephenson for a return match with Coach Walter Schousen's Eagles.

Indoor Track Season Opens

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—(AP) — A triangular track meet between Michigan, Michigan State Normal College and Western Michigan will open the indoor track season here tonight.

And the meet, scheduled for 7:30 p. m., will serve as the collegiate swan song for three of the state's best known track men, one of them a world's record holder.

It will be the last meet for Michigan Normal's sprinter, Jim Bibbs, co-holder of the world's 60-yard dash record at 6.1; Western Michigan's middle distance man, Russ Gabier, and MSNC's fine quarer-miler, Wardell Gilliam.

However, the three will have to share the spotlight with Don McEwen, Michigan's great Canadian distance runner who will try his luck in the 880-yard run. Though McEwen has concentrated on the longer distances in college, he did considerable work in the 880 during his high school days in Ottawa, Ont.

His teammate, George Jacobi, is favored in the race.

Considerable interest also will be focused on the quarter mile race between Jack Carroll, Michigan's standout sophomore from Montreal, and Michigan Normal's Etan McConnor, as well as the mile race matching Normal's Ed Aylmer, Western's Gabier and John Ross, another prominent Michigan sophomore from Hamilton, Ont.

Another eye-catcher is the high hurdles, where Western's Al Renick and Michigan Normal's newly eligible freshman Joe Howard may push Michigan's Van Bruner.

Michigan will be favored over the two smaller schools for team honors but the individual stars are expected to make the meet interesting.

College Cage Action Heads Into Stretch

NEW YORK — These are the days the unbeatens and conference leaders among the college basketball teams begin to worry about every shot they or their opponents take.

The most important games of the season are coming up and the two weeks probably will tell the story of who is going to play on the big post-season tournaments.

Both the nation's major unbeaten teams—Duquense (14-0) and St. Bonaventure (13-0—go into action tonight in warmups before they clash next Monday at Pittsburgh. So a week hence, the unbeaten list is bound to be at Exactly one.

Warm-Up Games

Duquesne tackles La Salle, no setup, while St. Bonaventure entertains John Carroll. In addition, the Bonnies have dates with Murray (Ky) State Teachers Thursday and Cincinnati Saturday.

There's another big one on tap for Saturday night and it will go far toward determining the eventual winner of the Big Ten race. League-leading Illinois travels to Iowa for a contest with the second-place Hawkeyes. Both have lost just one game all season, but Iowa's was in the league.

Otherwise, around the country class has been holding up in practically all sectors. For example, who is going to beat out North Carolina State or Kentucky for the Southern and Southeastern Conference title, respectively? Answer: Probably no one.

North Carolina State is riding along serenely with an unblemished mark of 8-0. West Virginia is trying to put up a fight and currently sports a 7-1 mark.

Kentucky No. 1

As for Kentucky, the No. 1 team in the weekly Associated Press poll, the Wildcats, with a mark of 9-0, last week saw their only challenger, Florida, drop virtually out of sight as a result of its second defeat of the league campaign.

The road to the pot o' gold at the end of the Big Seven trail is strewn with stones for Kansas State. Although the K-Staters are in first place with a 5-0 mark, Kansas is breathing hot down their backs with 4-1. They play on March 7 at Kansas.

With each passing week, it begins to look more and more as though St. Louis is going to come out on top in the Missouri Valley. The Billikens have a 6-0 record to show for their efforts, while defending champion Oklahoma A and M is 2-1 in loop play.

Wyoming sat back and watched Brigham Young lose a pair during the week and now has the No. 1 spot in the Skyline Conference all to itself. But the Southwest race still is entangled. Texas Christian, which had been going a mighty clip, was beaten by Arkansas and is in a deadlock with Texas for the lead, each with 4-1.

In the Ivy League, Cornell polished off Penn, the pre-season favorite, Saturday to take over first place with 4-0, against 4-1 for the Quakers.

Washington (8-2) and Idaho (6-2) still are battling it out for the Northern division lead in the Pacific Coast Conference, the Southern Division did not play last week. California still heads the class with 4-2.

Big Ten Showdown Set For Saturday; Illinois Will Invade Iowa City

CHICAGO—(AP)—Illinois takes its Big Ten basketball lead to Iowa Saturday for one of those "game-of-the-year" showdowns. It's virtually a toss-up.

But don't be surprised if when the screams from Iowa City fans have subsided, Illinois and Iowa will be sharing top spot in the title race, each with 6-1 records.

In order for this to happen, Iowa must win. On paper, at least, you might have to rate the Hawkeyes a whisker's edge.

Tough At Home

Iowa always has been almost unbeatable on its home floor. In three Big Ten wins there this season the Hawkeyes have piled up 232 points to foes' 182 and for the entire season at home have averaged 72 per game and held opposition to 58.1.

The Illinois have won their three Big Ten road games thus far by scoring a total of 185 points to 156 for opponents.

Summing this up, Iowa at home against Indiana, Northwestern and Minnesota has averaged 77.3 points per game and held them to 60.6. Illinois against Minnesota, Michigan and Ohio State on the road has averaged 61.3 and held them to 52.

For the season, Illinois' only loss was 69-65 to DePaul in 14 starts. Iowa's only setback was an 82-6 conference stinger at Indiana in the Hawkeyes last game, Jan. 21. Iowa's overall mark is 12-1.

Saturday Dates

Iowa warms up for the Illinois date tonight with a non-league home engagement against Butler. Ohio State, whose 6-4 center Paul Ebert scored 21 points in a 66-62 loss to Illinois Saturday, invades Minnesota in Big Ten action while Notre Dame is at Northwestern and St. Johns at Purdue.

Other Saturday league games send Purdue (1-6) to Indiana (3-3), Michigan (1-5) to Northwestern (4-4), Minnesota (4-3) to Wisconsin (2-3) and Ohio State (3-3) to Michigan State (3-4).

Minnesota gained third place Saturday by trimming Purdue 65-50 behind Ed Kalafat's 20 points. Northwestern scored 13 points in an overtime period to top Michigan State 86-75. In non-league action St. Johns of Brooklyn downed Indiana 65-55 and Marquette topped Michigan 64-57.

The Conference Standings:

Michigan State Wins Ski Meet

BOYNE FALLS, Mich.—(AP)—The first holder of the Michigan Intercollegiate Ski Association meet trophy is Michigan State College.

The Spartans picked off two of three first places during the Saturday-Sunday affair to amass 10 points. University of Michigan acquired one first and five points and Wayne University got two points. Neither University of Detroit nor Central Michigan College could place.

Star of the initial collegiate ski show was Ethan Axthman of Michigan State, a Lansing junior who won first in one event, second in another and a tie for second in the third.

Axthman won the 2,000-foot downhill race Saturday, covering the rugged McLouth trail course on Boyne Mountain in 39.5 seconds. Dick Hall of University of Michigan was second and Dick Mazer third.

Axthman tied for second behind teammate Merrit Hayes yesterday by the two-mile cross-country event on Cold Springs trail.

Hayes did the distance in nine minutes, 10 seconds. Axthman and Lindy De Smyters of Wayne had identical times of nine minutes, 56 seconds. Right behind them was Al Litzenberger of Michigan State.

In the slalom Sunday, Hall zipped through the gates in 41.2 seconds to win. Axthman was second and Hayes was third.

The course was fast and in excellent condition despite a heavy thaw recently.

Get Down To Specifications, College Presidents Are Told

CHICAGO — (AP) — The Big Ten Conference has urged the presidents' committee of the American Council on Education "to get down to specifications" in its suggested athletic reforms and has offered a helping hand to do it.

In a joint meeting of faculty representatives and athletic directors yesterday, the powerful Big Ten softly rebuked the A.C.E.'s suggested program of Jan. 5 that included abolishment of all post-season games, out-of-season practices and all athletic scholarships.

The Big Ten's so-called rebuke was subtle.

Would Lend Advice

In sum, it merely suggested that the college presidents needed top-level athletic advice and the Big Ten, having been in the athletic business 55 years, was able and willing to provide it at the next meeting of the A.C.E. Feb. 16 in Washington.

The only definite action taken by the Big Ten yesterday was to bring out-of-season football and basketball practices within limitations set up by the National Collegiate Athletic Association. The defined schedule is 20 spring football sessions in 30 consecutive days and 20 in basketball in a period of 24. Heretofore, out-of-season drills were unrestricted.

Undoubtedly, the Big Ten was thinking of the Rose Bowl football pact with the Pacific Coast Conference. The contract, renewed after five years for three more, expires with the 1954 New Year's Day game.

Study Bowl Games

Under NCAA ruling, no team in the country can make any contractural committments for Bowl games during 1952. The year was set aside for study by a special committee on the degree of pressures post season football games generate in regard to recruiting and subsidization.

Before this NCAA committee even had a chance to make its survey, the A.C.E. has suggested abolishment of all Bowl games. This seems to be the season for the Big Ten's attitude on the Presidents' proposals of athletic reform.

"In general the A.C.E. committee deals in generalities," said Ralph Aigler of Michigan, member of the Big Ten rules committee. "The conference does not want to deal critically with the A.C.E. report but is anxious to follow that group's invitation on suggestions and criticisms. We would like personal, or written, representation at the group's meeting Feb. 16. We are in a position to present to it our views gained from athletic experience over the years."

Gehrmann, Richards Win

BOSTON — (AP) — Don Gehrmann sped to the season's two fastest mile clockings over the weekend but the Rev. Bob Richards stole his thunder with some sky-scraping efforts in the pole vault.

The ex-Wisconsin whippet delighted his home town fans with a 4:08.4 pace in the Milwaukee Journal games Friday night and followed up 24 hours later by copping the A. A. Hunter Mile in 4:08.9.

Both times Gehrmann let FBI-man Fred Wilt of New York keep the lead until the final lap and then bolted past to win by 12 yards.

Richards uncorked a tremendous 15 feet 4 5/8 inches winning flight at Milwaukee and then showed Bostonians their best vaulting in ten years, soaring to 15-2 7/8 and 15 1/8. (Corny Warmerdam did 15-7¼ here in 1942).

Trophy To Richards

He failed in the B. A. A. competition with the bar at 15-4 3/4 but his 15th and 16th vaults above the 15-foot mark earned him the John J. Hallahan Memorial trophy as the meet's outstanding performer.

The LaVerne, Calif., Parson got seven first place votes from the 15 track writers polled to edge Manhattan College's sensational one mile relay team.

This New York quartet swept to the fastest time ever recorded on an 11-lap board track—3:17.6—and was close to the world record of 3:17.2 set on a nine-lap track in 1942 by a Georgetown team.

Olympic Speed Skaters Tune Up

OSLO, Norway — (AP) — Speed skaters from six nations, tuning up for the coming Olympic games, competed here yesterday with the host Norwegian squad taking most of the laurels.

Chicago's Ken Henry was fifth in the combined score of the meet which began Saturday, with 205.303 points.

Finn Hodt of Norway, who was barred recently from the Olympics by the Norwegian Olympic committee for wartime collaboration with the Nazis, was first in combined score with 201.597 points.

U. S. Hockey Wins

The international Olympic committee meanwhile decided that the giant slalom and downhill ski races will be held at Norefjell, about four hours drive from Oslo by automobile.

At Ostersund, Norway, Hjalmar Andersen, the top Norwegian candidate for speed skating honors, won the European title for the second straight year. He won the 10,000-meter and was second in the 1,500 meters.

The American Olympic hockey team and a U. S. bobsled crew won in Switzerland and Germany.

The hockey team defeated the Swiss at Zurich, 6-4, before a crowd of 10,000. Some fans tossed snowballs at the Americans, charging they played too roughly. The victory was the Americans' fourth against one tie on the Swiss tour.

Counterpoint Finishes 6th

ARCADIA, Calif—(AP)—Counterpoint may still become the horse of 1952, as he was of 1951, but he'll have to come from far back.

In a fraction over two minutes, a crowd of 55,000 changed its collective mind about his invincibility Saturday.

It had backed the C. V. Whitney speedster down to 50 cents on a dollar in the rich Santa Anita Maturity. But Counterpoint ran a dismal race and the Maryland-bred Intent romped to a narrow victory.

Counterpoint's sad performance may have been caued by a blow on the right hind leg during the race. A lump, which gradually subsided, was noticed several hours later. But the horse walked without limping yesterday and his trainer said there is no reason why he can't continue in training.

Intent's breeder-owner is Harry Isaacs, Baltimore textile manufacturer.

Santa Anita's biggest crowd in two years came out expecting to see Counterpoint breeze in, with Phil D providing most of the opposition. But Counterpoint ran fourth or fifth most of the way, and Phil D trailed him, except at the wire, when he slipped up by a head to finish fifth.

Gold Capitol, a Californian, and Black Douglas, from Texas' famed King ranch, battled for the lead all the way around and into the stretch. Intent collared them in the drive and won by a neck.

Two Iron Mountain Skiers Dominate Event At St. Paul

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(AP)—A pair of Iron Mountain, Mich., skiiers dominated the class C event in the St. Paul winter carnival ski meet here Sunday.

Dick Rahoi finished first with jumps of 183, 172 and 205 feet. Jerry Anderson was second with jumps of 170, 157 and 192.

TECH IN SWIM WIN

HOUGHTON, Mich—(AP)—Dick Agricola won three events to lead Michigan Tech's swimming team to a 51 to 33 victory over Bay City Junior College here Saturday night. It was the second loss in six years for the JC's.

Spartans Fail To Hang Onto Lead; Lose In Overtime

EVANSTON, Ill.—(AP)—Michigan State's cagers realize more than ever now after an 86 to 76 defeat that only the final score pays off.

The Spartans led Northwestern from the start here Saturday night right up until the final two minutes and 40 seconds. Then Bob Le Buhn dropped in a field goal to put the Wildcats out in front 73-72 temporarily before Gordon Stauffer potted a free throw to send the Big Ten contest into overtime.

In the final period Northwestern sank 13 points while the Spartans could muster only three. Le Buhn got four of them for the Wildcats and Frank Petrancek and Larry Dellefield each got three.

During the second period Michigan State built up a 31 to 21 margin and still led 47-39 at halftime. Northwestern gradually narrowed the gap during the second half.

For Michigan State the loss was the fourth in seven conference starts. Northwestern now has won four of eight conference games.

Towel At Foul Line Exposes Lack Of Lift And Other Faults

Eighth of a series written and illustrated for NEA Service

By BUDDY BOMAR

Former Match-Game Champion

Most bowlers are not aware that they are guilty of any one of a half dozen faults.

They will stoutly maintain their innocence if accused of dropping the ball behind the foul line, spinning or turning the hips, dropping the right shoulder excessively, sidearm delivery, breaking the elbow or lack of lift.

Placing a towel at the foul line is a sure method of discovering symptoms of these ailments.

The ball should be released on the upswing, the thumb coming out of the ball first, the fingers supplying stuff with a definite lifting motion.

Many incorrectly release the ball at the bottom of the arc of its downswing, and behind the foul line.

If you are guilty of this fault, the test with the towel will show it.

In the accompanying photograph you can see clearly how the ball is being sent over the towel and the foul line before it strikes the surface.

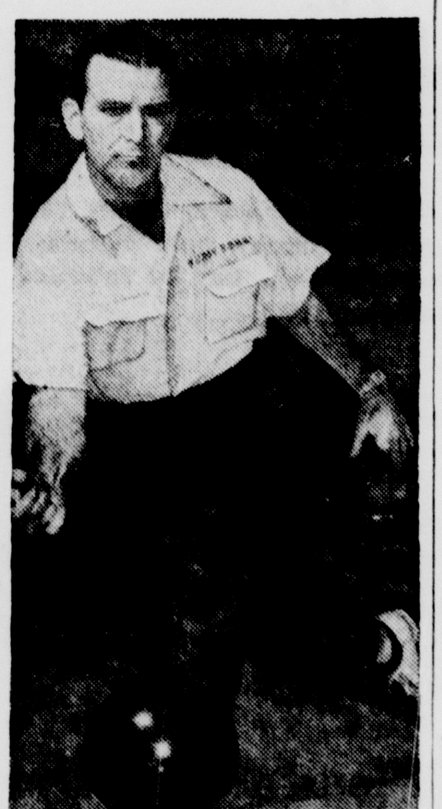
Even after you have grooved your swing correctly, it is possible to slip into some bad fault unconsciously.

The time to experiment and improve your game is during open play.

Most bowlers don't do enough open bowling and are forced to experiment during league play, or not at all. As a result, their games do not show any great improvement.

Bowl a few games during the afternoon, if possible, or over the week-end, when leagues are not in progress on your lanes.

Correcting mistakes in open play on Saturday and Sunday can mean higher scores in your league play during the week.



TOWEL TEST — Most bowlers are not aware that they are guilty of faults brought out by Dr. Buddy Bomar's prescription, which is placing a towel at the foul line. (NEA Photo)

Hospital Sites To Be Discussed

Another meeting of the Hospital Committee is scheduled for Tuesday night at 8 at the city hall and letters inviting representatives of various local organizations, churches, unions, lodges, clubs and other groups to attend have been sent out.

At this time it is believed that some formal organization will be formed with authoriy to act in the matter.

H. T. Brewer, chairman of the hospital committee, has pointed out that procedure to be followed must be orderly and well planned. The need for the facility must exist, the size needed determined, a site acquired, an approved plan obtained, costs estimates prepared and a means of financing found.

The need is already established by figures furnished by the Michigan Office of Hospital Survey and Construction which advises that this area has only one-third the facilities needed.

A discussion of possible sites for the hospital will probably form a portion of the program for tomorrow evening's meeting.

Pairings For Smear Play Are Announced

Another session of play in the Masonic smear tournament is to be held Wednesday evening at the Masonic hall and pairings are as follows: Kenneth Ames vs. Erick Apelgren, Louis Bizeau vs. Elmer Peterson, George Buchmiller vs. Gene Lancial, Maurice Buchmiller vs Cecil Jones and Walter Houghton vs. Swan Widar.

None Injured In Auto Collision

Michigan State Police were called Friday to investigate a collision between autos driven by Ed Swanson, Brampton, and Marvin Barbeau, Escanaba, on M-35 south of Brampton. The collision occurred when Swanson started to make a left turn into a driveway as Barbeau started to pass. None was injured.

CAVE FORMATIONS

One of Arizona's many wonders, Collossal Cave, is 28 miles east of Tucson. Formed by underground waters, the cave contains many formations resembling animals, buildings, and people.

PEEK AT THE FUTURE—Looking something like Alice in the Wonderland rabbit's house, a bright-eyed youngster peers into a model living room designed by boys and girls of a New York settlement house. The model was one of several presented by the youngsters to the New York Housing Authority as their ideas for the rooms they would like to see built in Baruch Houses, a new housing project in the city.
